

CONTENTS

ON PHILOSOPHISING AND THEORISING IN LAW

Legal Philosophy, Legal Theory – and the Future of Theoretical Legal Thought [2006]	11
1. Questioning and Knowing [11] 2. Law and Philosophy [11] 2.1. Law and Philosophical Wisdom [12] 2.2. Appearances of Modern Formal Law [14] 2.3. Differentiation in Complexity [16] 3. Conclusions [17] 3.1. Legal Philosophising Reduced to Discourse- reconstruction [17] 3.2. The Query for Natural Law Unresolved [19] 3.3. Positive Law – without Legal Positivism? [23] 4. On What the Stake is [26]
Legal Ontology [1999]	27
Law and History: On the Historical Approach to Law [1999]	31
Law as History? [1986]	36
1. Understandings of the Term ‘Law’ [36] 2. Law and History [38] 2.1. Law as Instrument [38] 2.2. Law as Culture [42] 3. Law as History [43]
Validity [1999]	48
1. Notions of Validity [48] 2. Understandings of Validity [49] 3. Statism and Dynamism of Law [54] 4. Validity and the Realm out- side the Law [55] 5. Dissolution of the Notion of Validity? [58]
Ex post facto Legislation [1999]	62

ON CONCEPTUALISING BY LOGIFYING THE LAW

Rule and/or Norm: On the Conceptualisability and Logifiability of Law [2003]	69
1. Rule / Norm [69] 2. Origins and Contexture [70] 3. With Varied Denotations [73] 4. Norms Exclusively in Civil Law Rechtsdogmatik [74] 5. Ambivalence in Language Use [77]
Legal Logic and the Internal Contradiction of Law [2004]	79
1. Legal Logic [79] 2. The Internal Contradiction of Law [83]
The Quest for Formalism in Law: Ideals of Systemicity and Axiomatisability between Utopianism and Heuristic Assertion [1973]	87
I. Systemicity [88] 1. Form and Content [88] 1.1. In Arts and Law [88] 1.2. In German Philosophy [90] 2. Systemicity and Axiomatic Approach [95] 2.1. The Idea of System and the Law-codes [95] 2.2. Early Modern Times [97] 2.3. Recent Times [100] 2.4. Drawbacks in Philosophy [104] II. Axiomatism [105] 3. The Want of Axiomatisability [105] 3.1. From Deductivity to Axiomatisation [105] 3.2. Futile Approximations at the Most [106] 3.3. Lack of Deductivity in the Law's Deep Structure [112] 4. The Heuristic Value of an Ideal [113] 4.1. Cases of N/A [113] 4.2. Cases of Correlation [114] 5. Conclusion: Ideals and the Dialectics of Substantivity [122]

Law and its Doctrinal Study (On Legal Dogmatics) (2006)	124
I. The Doctrinal Study of Law [124] 1. Legal Dogmatics in a Science-theoretical Perspective [124] 2. The Process of Advancing Conceptualisation [128] 3. Ideality versus Practicality in Legal Systemicity [133] 4. Conceptualisation, Systematisation, Dogmatisation [135] 5. Rules and Principles in Law [140] 6. Correlation between Legal Cultures and Legal Theories [141] 7. Theoretical and Socio-philosophical Perspectives [143] II. Inquiry into the Nature of Doctrinal Studies in Law [147] a) Legal Dogmatics [147] b) Non-conceptualised Traditions in Law [149] c) The Stand of Law and of its Dogmatics [154] III. 'Law', 'Science of Law', 'Science' [157] 1. Critical Positions [158] a) Ad Mátyás Bódig 'Doctrinal Study of Law and Jurisprudence' [158] b) Ad Tamás Györfy 'The Conceptual System of Law and the Dogmatics of Motivations' [169] c) Ad Péter Cserne 'The Doctrinal Study of Law versus Policy' [172] 2. In an Onto-epistemological Perspective [174]

ON FORMS AND SUBSTANCE IN LAW

Structures in Legal Systems: Artificiality, Relativity, and Interdependency of Structuring Elements in a Practical (Hermeneutical) Context [2001]	179
1. Theoretical Background [179] 2. Foundations of Structuring Challenged [181] 3. Is there a Structure had? [184] 4. Structuring as a Meta-construct [186]
Goals and Means in Law [2003]	189
1. The Neutrality of Techniques [189] 2. JOHN PAUL II [191] 2.1. On Personhood, his/her Goods, and Law [191] 2.2. On Person, Family, and Nation [196] 3. Artificiality and Antithetical Developments in Law [198]
Law, Ethics, Economy: Independent Paths or Shared Ways? [2004]	202
1. "Cynical Acid" in the Foundation of Modern Formal Law [202] 2. Example: Perspectives for Curing Malpractice in Law [205] 3. Clash between Europeanism and Americanism [207] 4. A Search for Reason and Systemicity [211] 5. Ethics in Economy [213]

Towards an Autonomous Legal Policy [1984]	216
1. Relationship between Politics and Law [216] 2. Legal Policy as a Mediator [218] 3. Legal Scholarship, Legal Policy, and the Law on Law [219] 4. Demand for an Autonomous Legal Policy [221]

ON PROCESSES OF LAW

The Judicial Black-box and the Rule of Law in the Context of European Unification and Globalisation [2008]	225
--	-----

I. Basic Issues in the Understanding of Law [225] 1. Normativism and Legal Reality (Re)Construction [225] 2. The Insufficiency of the Law Enacted [227] 3. Duplicity of the Ontological Reconstruction of Judicial Process [227] 4. The Law as Rule and the Law as Culture [231] 5. Complementation by the Law's Self-resolution in Post Modernism [232] 6. The Metaphoric Nature of the Term 'Law' [234] 7. Added Queries for the European and International Rule of Law [235] II. Questions to be Raised by Legal Arrangements Individually [236] 8. Law as Subsistence and Law as Conventionalisation [236] 9. Dilemmas of the Law Exhaustively Embodied by Texts, Thoroughly Conceptualised and Logified [237] 10. Conservatio/novatio, ius strictum / ius aequum, generalisatio/exceptio, and the Moment of Decision [238] III. The Circle of Legal Arrangements to be Involved in the Investigation [240] 11. Cultures and Traditions to be Investigated [241] IV. Purpose and Impact of Investigations [241] 12. The Tasks' Horizons [241]

Doctrine and Technique in Law [2002]	243
--------------------------------------	-----

1. Law, Legal Policy and Legal Technique [243] 2. Formalism and Anti-formalism [245] 3. Law as Potentiality and Actualisation [246] 4. Example: Constitutional Adjudication [248] 5. Legal Imaginability [251] 6. Linguistic Mediation [254] 7. Rechtsdogmatik [256] 8. Clauses and Principles [258] 9. With Safety Velvets Built in [260]

Theory and Practice in Law: On the Magical Role of Legal Technique [2006]	263
---	-----

1. Legal Formalism in a Practical Context [263] 2. Magic in Law: Culture and Mediation [268] 3. Legal Conceivability and its Limits [270] 4. One Language, Unlabelled [272] 5. Formalisation and De-formalisation: Principles as Safety Velves [276] 6. Within Given Cultural Bounds [278] 7. KELSENian Re-interpretation: Law Getting Defined in Society [282] 8. A Closed/Open Systemic Response [284]

Law, Understanding of Law, Application of Law (A Summary of Developments in Thirty-six Paragraphs) [2007]	287
---	-----

I. Classical Heritage [287] 1. Continental Law [287] 2. Anglo-Saxon Law [291] II. Reality in our Approach to Law [293] 1. As Professional Deontology [293] 2. In its Theoretical Explanation [294] III. The Complexity of our Legal World Concept [301] 1. The Complexity of Civil Law Mentality [301] 2. The Complexity of Common Law Mentality [301] IV. With Humans in the Legal Machinery [302]

APPENDIX

Legal Theorising: An Unrecognised Need for Practicing the European Law [2009]	307
1. Introduction: Queries in European and Global Perspectives [307]
2. Basic Issues [310] 2.1. Human Refinement [310] 2.2. The Westphalian Heritage of State Law and International Law [313] 2.3. The Place of European Law [315] 3. Analogies [319] 3.1. Solar System with Planets [319] 3.2. Pre-modernity, Modernity, Post-modernity [320] 4. The Structural Pattern of the European Law [322] 4.1. Legal Culture of the European Union [322] 4.2. Implementing a Grand-System Functioning [328] 4.3. With Legal Pluralism? [330] 5. Theoretical Model of the Operation of European Law [333] 5.1. Multipolarity with Centripetality and Centrifugality [333] 5.2. Order, Out of Chaos [336] 5.3. Practical Continuum in a Standing Flux [342] 5.4. Activated by Nations [347] 6. Conclusions for Practicing the European Law [349] 6.1. The Ethos of the Tasks [349] 6.2. For Reaching an Own Future, Thanks to Own Efforts [351]
Index of Subjects	355
Index of Normative Materials	362
Index of Names	364