

Contents

List of tables	vii
Introduction	1
 PART I
Nationalism as imperial imaginary: cosmos, geography, and ancient past	17
1 Cosmism: Russian messianism at a time of technological modernity	19
2 Larger, higher, farther north: Russia's geographical metanarratives	37
3 Alternate history and New Chronology: rewriting Russia's past	55
 PART II
Nationalism as doctrine: experimenting with new repertoires	71
4 Beyond Slavophilism: the rise of Aryanism and neo-paganism	73
5 A textbook case of doctrinal entrepreneurship: Aleksandr Dugin	95
6 Pamiat 2.0? The Izborskii Club, or the new conservative avant-garde	134

PART III

Nationalism as political battlefield: in the streets, for or against the Kremlin 153

7 Black shirts, White Power: the changing faces of the far right 155

8 Aleksei Navalny and the Natsdem: a pro-Western nationalism? 174

9 The three colors of Novorossiia, or the mythmaking of the Ukrainian war 195

References 214

Index 240