

CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	vii
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	xi
Introduction: Health Research and the Remaking of Common Sense	1
1 How to Study a Biopolitical Paradigm	17
2 Histories of the Human Subject	30
3 The Rise of Resistance: Framing the Critique of the Standard Human	53
4 The Path to Reform: Aligning Categories, Targeting the State	74
5 Opposition to Reform: Controversy, Closure, and Boundary Work	94
6 Formalizing the New Regime	116
7 From the Standard Human to Niche Standardization	135
8 Counts and Consequences: Monitoring Compliance	155
9 The Science of Recruitmentology and the Politics of Trust	182
10 To Profile or Not to Profile: What Difference Does Race Make?	203
11 Sex Differences and the New Politics of Women's Health	233
12 Whither the Paradigm?	258

Conclusion: Identity, Difference, Disparities, and Biopolitical Citizenship	277
CHRONOLOGY	303
INTERVIEWS	307
NOTES	311
INDEX	395