

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	x i
Notes on the Contributors	xii
Introduction	xvii
Robert Adams, Lena Dominelli and Malcolm Payne
 Part I SOCIAL WORK IN CONTEXT	 1
1 Anti-oppressive Practice in Context	3
Lena Dominelli
Anti-oppressive practice: an old-new paradigm	3
The struggle over anti-oppressive practice – an old-new controversy	10
The ‘backlash’ – a rejection of anti-oppressive practice by its opponents	13
Structural constraints limiting the spread of anti-oppressive practice	15
The future of anti-oppressive practice	17
 2 The Changing Nature of Social Work	 20
Vivienne E. Cree
Introduction	20
Political changes	21
Organisational changes	22
Individual changes	26

3	Values, Ethics and Social Work	30
	Steven M. Shardlow
	Introduction and context	30
	The scope of 'social work values'	31
	Understanding values and ethics	32
	Ethics and work with service users	33
	Social work and society	36
	New values: empowerment, consumerism, structural challenge	38
	Endnote – netting the fish	39
4	Social Work and Society	41
	Chris Jones
	Introduction	41
	Social work, class and poverty	42
	Social work as conservative welfare	44
	Unloved social work	46
	Social work and neo-liberalism	47
5	Social Policy and Social Work	50
	Carol Walker and Alan Walker
	Introduction	50
	The current social policy context	51
	Poverty and social work	52
	Who are the poor?	53
	But are the poor really poor?	55
	Policies on poverty	56
	Social policy and social exclusion	57
	Community care	59
6	Social Work and the Law	62
	Suzy Braye and Michael Preston-Shoot
	Introduction	62
	Intersecting law with social work practice	63
	Critical themes	66
	Critical debates	69
7	Social Work and Organisations	74
	Audrey Mullender and Stella Perrott
	Introduction: the organisational context of social work	74
	Organisational forms and issues	75
	Organisational culture and leadership	78
	Achieving organisational change	81
8	Social Work through the Life Course	84
	Lena Robinson
	Introduction	84
	Inadequacies of Western psychology	85

	Towards a black perspective in psychology	87
	Cross-cultural considerations	87
	Attachment	87
	Black identity development	88
	Social work with black families	90
	Social work with older black people	92
9	Personal and Professional Development	95
	Joyce Lishman
	Introduction	95
	The context and nature of personal and professional development in social work	96
	Our motivation for social work	99
	Self-awareness and reflection	99
	Managing complexity	100
	Managing uncertainty	102
	Managing change	102
	Supervision	103
	Promoting and developing good practice and service provision	105
	Educating and training the next generation	106
10	Research and Development in Social Work	109
	Angela Everitt
	Introduction	109
	Enhancing research in practice	109
	Theory and practice in research	112
	Critical social research	114
	Users and beneficiaries of social work research	116
Part II	THEORIES FOR PRACTICE IN SOCIAL WORK	121
11	Social Work Theories and Reflective Practice	123
	Malcolm Payne
	Introduction: reflecting on reflecting	123
	Reflecting on the social work role	128
	Using theory reflectively	132
	Reflecting on integration and dissent	134
	Using Part II reflectively	137
12	Counselling	139
	Helen Cosis Brown
	Introduction	139
	Theoretical groupings within counselling	141
	Counselling and social work	145
	Issues	146

13	Groupwork	149
	Dave Ward
	Where has all the groupwork gone?	149
	The demethoding of social work	150
	Groupwork and work-in-groups	152
	A continuing need for groupwork	154
	Re-establishing groupwork	155
14	Community Work	159
	Marjorie Mayo
	Introduction	159
	The context	160
	'Mapping' community work: definitions and recent history	161
	Community work and social work	162
	Alternative perspectives and implications for practice	163
	Some current issues and dilemmas	168
15	Psychosocial Work	170
	David Howe
	Introduction	170
	The socialness of self	171
	Inner working models	172
	Attachment behaviour	174
	Assessments	177
	Practice	177
16	Cognitive-behavioural Practice	180
	Katy Cigno
	Introduction	180
	The policy context of social work	181
	Cognitive-behavioural practice	182
	Areas of practice and links with effectiveness	184
	Assessment and intervention	186
17	Task-centred Work	191
	Mark Doel
	Introduction	191
	Task-centred work and other social work ideas	192
	The essence of task-centred work	193
	Issues	196
18	Empowerment and Advocacy	200
	Michael Leadbetter
	Being on the receiving end of services	200
	Concepts of empowerment and advocacy	201
	Legal, policy and organisational contexts	203

	Practice issues	203
	Impediments to empowerment and advocacy	205
	Debates and controversies	206
19	The Legacy of Radical Social Work	209
	Mary Langan
	Introduction	209
	The roots of radical social work	211
	The radical social work diaspora	212
	The end?	214
20	Feminist Social Work	218
	Joan Orme
	Introduction and context	218
	Feminist social work practice	220
	Issues	224
21	Anti-oppressive Practice	227
	Beverley Burke and Philomena Harrison
	Introduction	227
	What is anti-oppressive practice?	228
	Amelia's story as told to a friend	230
	Theory into practice	231
	Amelia's reflections	235
22	Postmodern and Constructionist Approaches to Social Work	237
	Nigel Parton
	Social work and the postmodern	239
	The importance of discourse and language	240
	Implications for practice	241
	Constructive social work	244
Part III	SOCIAL WORK PRACTICE	247
23	Social Work Processes	249
	Robert Adams
	Introduction	249
	Changing contexts and social work practice	250
	Competence-based approaches	252
	Changing approaches and social work practice	254
	Implications for practice	256
24	Social Work with Children and Families	267
	Lorraine Waterhouse and Janice McGhee
	Introduction	267
	Social context	268

	Changing family patterns	269
	The status of children	270
	Setting	271
	Childcare policy and practice	273
	Partnership, prevention and support in practice	277
25	Social Work with Adults	287
	Neil Thompson
	Introduction	287
	The context for practice	288
	Systematic practice	292
	The life course	296
	Roles and tasks	299
26	Social Work with Offenders	308
	David Smith
	Introduction	308
	The policy background	309
	New Labour and criminal justice	314
	Working with young offenders	319
	Working with adult offenders	321
	Social work and community safety	324
27	Concluding Comment: Past, Present and Future of Social Work	329
	Robert Adams, Lena Dominelli and Malcolm Payne
	Now, then and when: the need for critical practice	329
	Views of histories	331
	Milestones in the past of social work	333
	Continuities and changes	334
	Future prospects for social work	335
	Towards a critical view of the past, present and future of social work	335
	Bibliography	336
	Index	393