

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Table of Cases	xvii
Table of Statutes	xliv
Table of Statutory Instruments	lvii
1. Introduction	1
The Purposes of Criminal Law	1
The Criminal Courts	3
Treasons, felonies and misdemeanours; arrestable offences	3
Summary and indictable offences; summary trial and trial on indictment	4
Appeals	8
The Burden and Standard of Proof	9
The Draft Criminal Code	13
The Human Rights Act 1998	15
2. Actus Reus and Mens Rea: The Elements of an Offence	17
Actus Reus	20
The need for voluntary conduct	21
Has the defendant introduced evidence of automatism?	24
What is the cause of the automatism?	26
Evidential and legal burdens	27
Self-induced automatism	28
Criminal liability in the “state of affairs” cases	29
Liability for failing to act	31
In which crimes may liability be incurred for an omission?	33
Who is under a duty to act	35
Medical treatment	40
Conclusion and omission	42
Causation	42
A substantial cause	45
Take your victim as you find him	46
Supervening events	46

Actus reus : general reading	58
Mens Rea	58
Introduction	58
What can constitute mens rea ?	61
Intention	61
Negligence and recklessness	71
Negligence	71
Recklessness	74
Knowledge	83
Blamesless inadvertence	85
Coincidence of actus reus and mens rea	87
Transferred malice	91
Mistake as a defence to crime	94
The basic problem	94
Can an unreasonable mistake afford a defence?	96
The decision in DPP v. Morgan	98
Mistake and the bigamy cases	99
Is the decision in DPP v. Morgan confined to cases of rape?	100
Mens rea : general reading	102
3. Strict Liability	103
Who created this genre of crimes?	104
How can crimes of strict liability be identified?	104
The wording of the act	105
Crimes and Quasi crimes	111
Arbitrary lines	121
Smallness of the penalty	121
Strict liability and age-based sexual offences	122
Defences to offences of strict liability	126
Why do we have crimes of strict liability at all?	129
General reading	131
4. Parties to Criminal Offences	133
Principal and Secondary Offenders	133
Introduction	133
The principal or perpetrator	135
Secondary parties	137
Knowledge of the type of crime	138
Aids, Abets, Counsels or Procures	140
Joint enterprise	147
The nature of joint enterprise	147
Joint enterprise and murder	148
Liability for unforeseen consequences	154
Is there a need to distinguish between joint enterprise and accessoryship liability	161
Hypothetical example	163

The need for an actus reus	166
The commisison of the actus reus	166
No principal offender	167
Previous acquittal of the principal offender	168
Joint trial of principal and secondary parties	168
Victims as parties to an offence	171
Repentance by a secondary party before the crime is committed	172
Assistance given after the commission of the crime	175
General reading	176
Vicarious and Corporate Liability	177
Vicarious liability	177
Express statutory vicarious liability	178
Implied vicarious liability	178
The licensee cases	180
Inapplicability of vicarious liability	182
Summary	183
Conclusion	183
Corporate liability	184
General principles	184
Liability of individual	189
Are there any crimes a company cannot commit?	189
Reform	193
Summary	195
General reading	195
5. General Defences	197
The Mentally Abnormal Offender: Insanity and Unfitness to Plead	197
The defences of insanity and diminished responsibility	201
Insanity	202
Diminished responsibility	211
Hospital orders	216
Conclusions	216
The mentally abnormal offender: general reading	219
Intoxication	219
Voluntary intoxication	220
Involuntary intoxication	228
Self-induced automatism and non-harmful drugs	230
Insanity and diminished responsibility produced by intoxication	232
Drinking with intent	232
Proposals for reform	233
Intoxication: general reading	234
Self-defence, Necessity and Duress	234
Self-defence: the use of force in public and private defence	235
Prevention of crime	236
Self-defence and defence of others	237
Defence of property	239
Excessive force	239

Summary	249
General reading	251
Necessity	251
Necessity and the killing of another	251
Necessity and medical treatment	253
Necessity and statutory legislation	257
Necessity as a general defence	258
General reading	259
Duress	259
General background	259
The ambit of the duress defence	260
The constituents of duress	266
Duress and the voluntary joining of criminal associations	275
Duress of circumstances	277
General reading	281
Infancy	282
Children under 10 years of age	282
Children 10 years old and above	282
Entrapment	284
Y's liability	285
X's liability	285
Exclusion of evidence	285
General reading	287
Superior Orders	287
General reading	288
Judicial Legislation	288
A distinction between Stare Decisis and judicial law-making as uncharted seas for judicial circumnavigation	288
An analogy to judicial law-making over duress by threats	289
6. The Inchoate Offences	293
Attempts	294
General principles	294
Actus reus	296
Mens rea	304
Are all attempted offences crimes of specific intent?	310
Attempting the impossible	310
Acts of preparation	315
General reading	315
Incitement	315
Actus reus	316
Mens rea	318
Double inchoate liability	320
Impossibility	321
Conspiracy	322
General overview	322
The actus reus in conspiracy	324
Rationale and the requirement of an agreement	324

The object of the agreement	326
Parties to the agreement	331
Aquittal of a co-conspirator	333
The mental element in conspiracy	333
Recklessness as to circumstances will not do	333
Course of conduct	334
Intention on the part of each conspirator	335
Active participation in the course of conduct	336
Conditional intention	338
Impossibility	339
Territorial jurisdiction	340
Double inchoate liability	341
General reading	342
7. Offences Against the Person	343
General Introduction	343
Who can commit an offence against the person?	344
Who can be the victim of an offence against the person?	345
The unborn child	345
When do you cease to be a human being?	346
Unlawful Homicide	348
Murder and Manslaughter	349
The penalty for murder and manslaughter	350
The actus reus of murder and manslaughter	351
The mens rea of murder	352
The killing of a human being	353
Mens rea on the other external elements of murder	354
Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter	355
Voluntary Manslaughter	356
The nature of provocation	356
Cooling-off period and battered woman syndrome	358
The role of judge and jury in determining the provocation defence	361
The U.S. approach	363
Self-induced provocation	365
The dual test for provocation	366
The objective test	366
Relevant characteristics	368
Reform	377
Conclusion	378
Provocation: general reading	378
Involuntary Manslaughter	379
Unlawful act manslaughter	380
The act must be unlawful in itself	380
The act must not only be unlawful; it must also be dangerous	384
Must the unlawful act be "aimed at" the particular victim?	385
The unlawful and dangerous act must be the cause of death	387
Gross negligence manslaughter	388
Further categories of involuntary manslaughter?	392

The future of involuntary manslaughter	393
Other Unlawful Homicides	395
Suicide	395
Infanticide	396
Causing death by dangerous driving	396
Homicide: general reading	397
Non-Fatal Offences Against the Person	398
The general framework	398
Common assault	399
Assault	399
The actus reus of battery	403
Mens rea of assault and battery	407
Assault occasioning actual bodily harm	408
Occasioning actual bodily harm	408
Actual bodily harm	409
Mens rea	410
The offences under sections 20 and 18 of the Offences Against the Person Act 1861	411
Section 20	412
Section 18	418
Miscellaneous notes on offences against the person	419
Alternative verdicts	419
Laser pointers	420
A hierarchy of offences	420
Racially aggravated assaults	420
Consent as a defence to offences against the person	421
To which crimes is consent a defence?	422
The exceptions to the general rule	428
What is consent?	431
Future reforms of the offences against the person and consent	432
Reform of non-fatal offences against the person	432
Reform of consent	434
General reading	434
Sexual Offences	435
Rape	435
The actus reus of rape	436
Mens rea	440
Unlawful sexual intercourse	441
Indecent assault and other offences of indecency	442
The defendant must have intentionally assaulted the victim	443
That the assault, or the assault and circumstances accompanying it, are capable of being considered by right-minded persons as indecent	443
That the defendant intended to commit such an assault as referred to in A and B above	444
Indecent exposure	446
Proposals for reforms of sex offences	446
General reading	448

8. Offences Against Property I	451
Stealing under the Theft Act 1968	451
• Theft	453
The actus reus of theft	453
Appropriates	453
Property	468
Belonging to another	472
The mens rea of theft	482
Dishonesty	483
With intention permanently to deprive	487
Conditional intention	491
General reading	493
9. Offences Against Property II	495
Deception and Further Offences Under the Theft Acts	495
Introduction	495
Elements common to deception offences	496
What can constitute deception for the purposes of the thefts act?	496
Misrepresentation of law	497
Statement of intention	497
Does there need to be words; will conduct suffice?	498
Can there be a case of deception by silence?	499
Can you deceive a machine?	499
The causal link	500
Dishonesty	505
What must be obtained by the deception?	506
Obtaining Property by Deception	506
What constitute property?	506
Mens rea	506
The relationship between theft and deception	507
The company as a victim of criminal deception	508
The decision in Rozeik	508
A hierarchical structure of corporate knowledge	509
Civil liability for the acts of company employees	511
Obtaining a Money Transfer by Deception	513
R. v. Preddy : the obtaining of mortgage advances by deception and section 15(1) of the Theft Act 1968	513
The Theft (Amendment) Act 1996: the need for statutory reform	516
Case law developments after Preddy	517
Obtaining a Pecuniary Advantage	519
Obtaining Services by Deception	521
Evasion of Liability by Deception	524
Making Off Without Payment	527
General reading	531
• Robbery	531
Summary	534
• Burglary	534

Entry	536
As a trespasser	538
A building	540
Part of a building	541
Mens rea	542
• Aggravated Burglary	543
Making Unwarranted Demands with Menaces: Blackmail	545
There must be a demand	545
The demand must be accompanied by menaces	546
The demand must be made with a view to gain for the maker or another, or with intent to cause loss to another	547
The demand must be unwarranted	548
• Handling	549
The actus reus of handling	550
Stolen goods	550
Handling	553
The mens rea of handling	555
Knowing or believing that the goods were stolen	556
Dishonesty	558
Proof of mens rea	558
Dishonestly retaining a wrongful credit	560
Summary on handling	562
Miscellaneous Provisions	563
Offences of temporary deprivation	563
Abstracting electricity	564
Business frauds	564
Advertising rewards	564
Going equipped for stealing	565
Restitution and compensation	565
General reading	565
10. Offences Against Property III	567
Criminal Damage	567
The basic offence	567
Actus reus	568
Mens rea	570
Aggravated damage	570
Arson	573
Threatening to destroy or damage property (section 2)	573
Possession of anything with intent to damage or destroy property (section 3)	574
The defence of lawful excuse	574
Lawful excuse under section 5	575
Lawful excuse outside of section 5	576
General reading	577
Index	579