

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	1
PART I What do I need to know?	7
1. What is action research?	9
2. Who can do action research?	22
3. The values base of action research	33
4. Critical times for action research	52
PART II Why do I need to know?	63
5. Why do action research?	65
6. The responsibilities of practitioner-researchers: contributing to new practices and new learning	77
7. The responsibilities of practitioner-researchers: contributing to new thinking and ideas	89
8. The responsibilities of practitioner-researchers: engaging with the literatures	101
PART III How do I find out?	113
9. Thinking about doing an action research project	115
10. Planning to do your action research	129
11. Carrying out your action plans	143
12. Evaluating the quality of your plans, practices and research	157

PART IV How do I generate evidence to test the validity of my knowledge claim?	167
13. Monitoring practices and gathering data	169
14. Working with data: analysing, authenticating and interpreting	183
15. Generating evidence from the data and making knowledge claims: summary chapter	195
PART V How do I test and critique my knowledge?	203
16. Testing the validity of your knowledge claim	205
17. Establishing the legitimacy of your knowledge claim	216
PART VI How do I represent and communicate my knowledge?	227
18. Thinking about writing your dissertation	229
19. Writing up your dissertation	242
PART VII How do I show the significance of my knowledge?	255
20. The significance of it all	257
References	263
Index	272