

CONTENTS

Preface	xi
---------	----

Introduction

1. The Importance of Ancient Rhetoric	I
2. The Historical Background to the Rhetoric	8
3. Rhetoric as Techne	14
4. Psychology in the Rhetoric	21
5. Style and Composition	31
6. The Rhetorical Legacy of Aristotle	50
7. The Translation	58

THE ART OF RHETORIC

Section One: Introductory

Chapter 1.1. The Nature of Rhetoric	65
-------------------------------------	----

PART ONE: DEMONSTRATION

Section Two: The Genres of Oratory

Chapter 1.2. The Definition of Rhetoric	73
Chapter 1.3. The Genres	79

Section Three: Deliberation

Chapter 1.4. The Province of Deliberation	83
Chapter 1.5. Happiness	86
Chapter 1.6. The Good and the Expedient	91
Chapter 1.7. Relative Expediency	95

Chapter 1.8. Constitutions	101
Section Four: Display
Chapter 1.9. Display Oratory	104
Section Five: Litigation
Chapter 1.10. Injustice	111
Chapter 1.11. Pleasure	114
Chapter 1.12. The Criminal Mind	120
Chapter 1.13. Crime and Punishment	124
Chapter 1.14. Relatively Serious Crimes	128
Chapter 1.15. Non-technical Proofs	129

PART TWO: EMOTION AND CHARACTER

Section Six: Emotion
Chapter 2.1. The Role of Emotion and Character	139
Chapter 2.2. Anger	142
Chapter 2.3. Calm	146
Chapter 2.4. Friendship and Enmity	149
Chapter 2.5. Fear and Confidence	153
Chapter 2.6. Shame	157
Chapter 2.7. Favour	161
Chapter 2.8. Pity	162
Chapter 2.9. Indignation	165
Chapter 2.10. Envy	168
Chapter 2.11. Jealousy	170
Section Seven: Character
Chapter 2.12. Youth	172
Chapter 2.13. Old Age	174
Chapter 2.14. Prime	176
Chapter 2.15. Birth	177
Chapter 2.16. Wealth	178
Chapter 2.17. Power	179

Section Eight: Common Topics

Chapter 2.18. The Role of Common Topics	183
Chapter 2.19. The Topics of Possibility	185
Chapter 2.20. Example	188
Chapter 2.21. Maxim	191
Chapter 2.22. Enthymeme	194
Chapter 2.23. Demonstrative Common Topics	197
Chapter 2.24. Illusory Topics	207
Chapter 2.25. Refutation	211
Chapter 2.26. Amplification	213

Section Nine: Style

Chapter 3.1. Historical Preliminary	215
Chapter 3.2. Clarity	218
Chapter 3.3. Frigidity	221
Chapter 3.4. Simile	224
Chapter 3.5. Purity	225
Chapter 3.6. Amplitude	227
Chapter 3.7. Propriety	228
Chapter 3.8. Rhythm	230
Chapter 3.9. Syntax	231
Chapter 3.10. Wit and Metaphor	234
Chapter 3.11. Vividness	238
Chapter 3.12. Suitability to Genre	242

Section Ten: Composition

Chapter 3.13. Narration and Proof	245
Chapter 3.14. The Introduction	246
Chapter 3.15. Prejudice	250
Chapter 3.16. Narration	252
Chapter 3.17. Proof and Refutation	255
Chapter 3.18. Altercation	258
Chapter 3.19. The Epilogue	260

Notes	262
Bibliography	291