

Contents

List of figures	xii
List of tables	xxx
Preface and Acknowledgements	xxxi
1 The archaeology of early Iran: perspectives from the past for the present	1
The archaeology of Iran as a field of study	1
Characterising Iran: a land of “prismatic diversity”	2
What is this book about? Scope, themes, issues	3
Who is this book for?	5
2 Placing Iran: land, environment and ecology	6
Introducing Iran: landscapes of contrast and challenge	6
The zones of Iran: contexts for human–environment interactions	12
The Khuzestan lowlands	12
The Zagros mountains	14
The northern highlands	16
The eastern highlands	17
The central basins	19
Routes of communication: the lay of the land and the sea	19
Climate, environment and human interactions: the challenge of Iran	20
3 Approaching the past of Iran: a history of archaeological investigation	22
Approaching the past of Iran: key sources	22
Difficult birth and infancy of a discipline: 1800–1930	22
Internationalisation of a discipline: 1931–1958	26
A golden age of Iranian archaeology: 1959–1979	28
After the revolution: 1979–2000	30
Difficult rebirth of a discipline: 2001–2020	32
4 Peopling Iran: the Palaeolithic period, 500,000–12,000 BP	35
Putting people in the picture	35
First steps: the Lower Palaeolithic, 500,000–200,000 BP	36
“Complex and interesting”: the Middle Palaeolithic, 200,000–40,000 BP	39
The Zagros region	39
The northern highlands and Caspian region	41
The central plateau	42
The eastern highlands	43
Trends in the Middle Palaeolithic of Iran	43
The first Iranian revolution: the Upper Palaeolithic and Epipalaeolithic, 45,000–12,000 BP	43
The Upper Palaeolithic, 45,000–20,000 BP	45
The Epipalaeolithic, 20,000–12,000 BP	50
The end of the Palaeolithic in Iran: creating human communities	52

5 Domesticating Iran: the Neolithic period, 10,000–5200 BCIran in the Neolithic Transition* 54*Researching the Iranian Neolithic* 55*Neolithic terminology and chronology* 57*Human–environment interactions in the Neolithic* 57*The Epipalaeolithic-Neolithic transition, 11,000–9800 BC* 61*A formative zone: the Early Neolithic of the Zagros, 9800–7000 BC* 63

The central Zagros: core zone of Early Neolithic transformations 75

Spreading the word: initial Neolithic dispersals across Iran, 7500–6500 BC 79

The south and central Zagros 80

The earliest Neolithic beyond the Zagros 85

Becoming farmers, herders and villagers: the Neolithic climax, 6500–5200 BC 89

The significance of ceramics 89

The central and south-central Zagros 90

The southern Zagros and Fars 92

South-eastern Iran 97

North-western Iran and the Caucasus 99

The central and northern plateaux 102

North-eastern Iran and Turkmenistan 105

Iran domesticated: the culmination of the Neolithic 1096 Early social complexity in Iran: the Chalcolithic period, 5200–3200 BC

111

The domestication of human society: Chalcolithic communities of Iran 111*First steps: Chalcolithic societies of northern and central Iran* 112

The transition from the Late Neolithic to the Early Chalcolithic in north-western Iran, 5400–4500 BC 114

The developed Chalcolithic of north-western Iran, 4500–3200 BC 115

The Transitional Chalcolithic of north-central Iran, 5300–4300 BC 117

Settlement patterns and food procurement strategies 118

Craft specialisation: ceramics and architecture 120

Mortuary practices 123

The nature of society: hierarchical or transegalitarian? 125

The developed Chalcolithic of north-central Iran, 4300–3300 BC 127

Settlement patterns and food procurement strategies 127

Ceramics, metallurgy and networks of material movement 127

Later Chalcolithic societies of north-central Iran: the emergence of societal complexity and its (temporary) collapse 134

Ceramics and connectivity: Chalcolithic societies of the central and northern Zagros 134

The Early Chalcolithic, 5500–5000 BC 135

The Middle Chalcolithic, 5000–3800 BC 136

The Late Chalcolithic, 3800–3200 BC 137

Social complexity and pastoral mobility 143

Early state formation and the Chalcolithic societies of south-western Iran 144

Chronology 145

The Early Susiana period, 5700–5400 BC 145

The Middle Susiana period, 5400–4600 BC 147

The Late Susiana period, 4600–4000 BC 149

The Late Chalcolithic, 4000–3100 BC: state formation and reformation and the resurgence of Susa and Chogha Mish 157

Explaining the evidence from Late Chalcolithic Khuzestan: some attempts 171

Chalcolithic societies of south and south-eastern Iran 172

The Early Chalcolithic of Fars, 5000–4000 BC: settled or mobile (or both)? 173

The Late Chalcolithic of Fars, 4000–3200 BC: expansion and contraction 177

The Early Chalcolithic of south-eastern Iran, 5000–4000 BC:
Tepe Yahya to the fore	178
The Late Chalcolithic of south-eastern Iran, 4000–3200 BC:
transregional engagement	180
Chalcolithic kaleidoscope: divergent, fragmented trajectories towards complexity	183
7 Iran's first state? The Proto-Elamite horizon, 3200–2900 BC	188
The Early Bronze Age of Iran: regionalisation and interconnection	188
Encountering and defining a cultural phenomenon: the Proto-Elamite horizon	189
Proto-Elamite chronology: a thorny but important issue	192
Susa in the Susa IIIA period: disjunction and continuity	192
Writing and sealing at Susa in the Susa IIIA period	195
The significance of Susa in the Susa IIIA period	204
The Ram Hormuz plain: Tall-e Geser	205
Tal-i Malyan/Anshan and the Fars region	207
The Proto-Elamite horizon in eastern Iran	214
Tepe Yahya in Kerman: fortified foreigners?	214
Shahr-i Sokhta: over the Proto-Elamite horizon?	221
Proto-Elamite presence in north-central, north-east and central Iran	222
Characterising the Proto-Elamite horizon	230
The end of the Proto-Elamite world	233
8 People on the move: prehistoric networks of Bronze Age Iran, 3400–1100 BC	236
Iran beyond the Proto-Elamite horizon	236
The Early Transcaucasian Culture (ETC) in Iran, 3400–2600 BC: an ideology of home and the hearth	236
History of ETC research in north-western Iran	238
Chronology of ETC	238
ETC regions and sites of Iran	239
North-western Iran at the crossroads of culture	239
ETC borderlands 1: the Qazvin plain, Gilan and western Mazandaran	247
ETC borderlands 2: the central Zagros region	248
ETC settlement patterns in Iran	250
ETC sites as new foundations	250
Duration of settlement at ETC sites	251
Abandonment of ETC sites	251
Scale and density of ETC settlements	252
ETC identity: society and economy	252
ETC ceramics – pots equalling people?	255
The ETC expansion: one component of a mega-phenomenon?	257
North-western Iran in the Middle-Late Bronze Age, 2100–1250 BC	259
The central plateau of Iran, 3000–1250 BC	263
Luristan and the burial of the dead, 3000–1200 BC	264
Defining Luristan	264
Archaeological research in Luristan	266
Luristan chronology	267
Luristan in Early Bronze Age I	267
Luristan in Early Bronze Age II–III	270
Godin III: 1200 years of domesticity	274
Luristan in Early Bronze Age IV and beyond	277
The problem of Luristan in the Bronze Age	279
Regional dynamics in Bronze Age Fars, 2900–1100 BC	282
Cultural geography of Fars	282

Late Banesh settlement in Fars, 2900–2300 BC	283
Kaftari settlement in Fars, 2200–1600 BC	283
Qaleh and Middle Elamite settlement in Fars, 1600–1100 BC	284
Interpreting settlement and society in Bronze Age Fars	284
Conclusion: a socio-political mosaic in Bronze Age western Iran	285
9 Iran beyond borders: Bronze Age societies of eastern Iran, 3100–1250 BC	286
Eastern Iran in its cultural context: interconnected worlds	286
South-eastern Iran in the Bronze Age	289
Spectacular florescence: Early Bronze Age archaeology of the Halil Rud and Kerman region	291
On the desert fringes: Early Bronze Age archaeology of the western Dasht-e Lut	304
Connected communities: the Rud-e Bampur complex and the Jazmurian basin	308
The Helmand civilisation: Shahr-i Sokhta, jewel in the Sistan crown	312
Climate collapse: the end of the Bronze Age in south-eastern Iran	325
Terra incognita: north-eastern Iran and its neighbours in the Bronze Age	326
Bronze Age archaeology of Khorasan	329
Bronze Age archaeology of Semnan, Mazandaran and western Khorasan	330
BMAC and the end of the Bronze Age in north-eastern Iran	332
Eastern Iran in the Bronze Age: the nature of society	337
10 Elam in the world of Bronze Age Southwest Asia, 2900–1100 BC	340
Elam: key issues	340
Khuzestan and the early Elamite state	341
Susa in the third millennium BC: chronology of Susa IIIB–C, Susa IV and Susa V	342
The emergence of Elam and Awan, 2800–2350 BC	344
Akkadian and Ur III imperial engagement with Elam and Iran, c. 2350–2000 BC	352
Elam in the Akkadian empire, c. 2350–2100 BC	352
Local hero interlude: Puzur-Inshushinak, c. 2150–2000 BC	356
Elam in the Ur III empire, c. 2050–2000 BC	359
Grand Viziers of Elam: the Old Elamite period, 1950–1500 BC	365
The mature Elamite state: the Middle Elamite period, 1500–1100 BC	372
The cult of craft and death: Middle Elamite I archaeology and Haft Tepe (Kabnak)	373
“Such as the ancients never made”: Middle Elamite II archaeology and Chogha Zanbil (Al Untash-Napirisha)	378
Susa and beyond: Middle Elamite III archaeology	386
Elam in the world of Bronze Age Southwest Asia: an ever-revolving door or a profound duality?	388
11 Iran imperial: villages, cities, states and empires of the Iron Age, 1250–330 BC	393
From village to empire in the age of iron	393
Iran in the age of Iranian migrations	393
A climate of collapse and a climate of empire	396
Imperial studies	398
North-western Iran in the Iron Age, 1250–550 BC	399
Iron Age I, 1250–1050 BC: ongoing local evolution	399
Iron Age II, 1050–800 BC: imperial encounters	403
Iron Age III, 800–550 BC: between imperial powers	410
Northern, Central and North-Eastern Iran in the Iron Age, 1250–600 BC	419
Luristan in the Iron Age, 1250–600 BC	434
The Neo-Elamite kingdom, 1000–539 BC	442
South-eastern Iran in the Iron Age, 1250–550 BC	453
Media studies: “mighty Medes of the rising sun,” c. 750–550 BC	454
Achaemenid Persia: archaeology of a world empire, 550–330 BC	468
Iran in the Iron Age: climate and society	497

12 Themes and issues in the archaeology of early Iran

499

A few pockets of exploration 499*Human–environment interactions in early Iran: trends and patterns through time* 499*Identities of early Iran, individual and social* 504*Complex societies in early Iran: “fragile and evanescent”* 506*Where next for the archaeology of early Iran?* 509

Bibliography

511

Index

613