

CONTENTS

About the Author	xi
Online Resources	xii
Acknowledgements	xiii
Preface	xiv
Endorsements	xv

1 The Management Consultancy Phenomenon 1

Defining management consultancy	2
The reasons for hiring management consultants	8
The roles of management consultants	13
The forms of management consultancy	16
The results of management consultancy	20
Conclusion	23
Summary	25
Running case	24

2 The Management Consultancy Industry 27

The Second Industrial Revolution and the birth of management consultancy	28
The Third Industrial Revolution and IT management consultancy	30
The Fourth Industrial Revolution and productized consultancy	32
The growth of the management consultancy market	39
Conclusion	47
Summary	49
Running case	48

3 The Management Consultancy Firm 51

- The organization of a professional partnership 52
- The economics of a professional partnership 62
- The managed professional business 67
- New developments 69
- Conclusion 72
- Summary 74
- Running case 73

4 The Management Consultant 76

- Reasons for applying 77
- Reasons for hiring 79
- Recruiting 81
- Learning and development 86
- The work of a consultant 88
- Career development 90
- Conclusion 95
- Summary 98
- Running case 96

5 Selling a Consultancy Project 100

- The marketing of the firm 101
- The consultative approach to selling a project 106
- The proposal 109
- The flywheel of management consultancy 114
- Conclusion 118
- Summary 119
- Running case 118

6 Identifying a Client's Real Problem 121

- Clients' questions 122
- Consultants' critical thinking 124
- Balancing the problem-solving approach 127
- Understanding a client's context 128
- Understanding a client's real problem 132
- Understanding the stakeholders 135
- Distinguishing between various types of problems 141
- Developing a problem statement 143
- Understanding opportunities 146
- Conclusion 149
- Summary 154
- Running case 150

7	Structuring the Real Problem	156
	Multi-level problem-solving	157
	The principles of structuring	159
	Consultants' models for problem-solving	162
	Sequential Analysis problem-solving	168
	Conclusion	186
	Summary	191
	Running case	187
8	Designing and Conducting Analyses	194
	Developing hypotheses about the client's problem	195
	Designing analyses for hypothesis testing	200
	Developing a work plan	205
	Collecting the data	208
	Creating the data	214
	Analysing the data	219
	Data-analytical thinking	226
	Presenting the analysis results	228
	Conclusion	229
	Summary	230
	Running case	230
9	Developing a Solution	236
	Multi-level solution development	237
	Good solutions	238
	Consultants' models for developing solutions	239
	Frameworks for solutions	244
	An indirect process for developing solutions	249
	Developing solution hypotheses	257
	Testing solution hypotheses	258
	Accepting or rejecting solutions	260
	Selecting the best solution	262
	Conclusion	264
	Summary	267
	Running case	265
10	Structuring a Presentation	270
	The importance of presentations in consultancy	271
	Pitfalls in presentations	272
	Understanding the audience	274
	Structuring the presentation of a solution	276
	Structuring a solution-driven presentation	278

Structuring a problem-driven presentation	281
Designing slides	286
Delivering presentations	295
Conclusion	295
Summary	298
Running case	296

11 Preparing for Implementation 300

Setting up an implementation project	301
Assessing the client's implementation gap	303
Structuring implementation gaps	308
Assessing client's readiness for implementation	312
Planning an implementation	317
Conclusion	322
Summary	324
Running case	323

12 Facilitating an Implementation 325

The consultants' role in implementation	326
Setting up an implementation office	328
Scheduling the actions	329
Managing an implementation	331
Evaluating a project	340
Closing a project	341
Conclusion	344
Summary	347
Running case	345

Index	348
--------------	-----