

CONTENTS

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	x
List of Contributors	xi
1 Object-based learning and object-based well-being: An introduction Helen J. Chatterjee and Thomas Kador	1
2 Pedagogic Prescription: Art and design teaching practice and object-led well-being Judy Willcocks	9
3 Challenging the self in the museum: Examining the development of professional identity and professional well- being for clinical students Kwang Meng Cham, Rosalind McDougall and Heather Gaunt	28
4 Inclusive memory: How to promote social inclusion, well- being and critical thinking skills within a museum context Antonella Poce, Maria Rosaria Re and Fulvia Strano	43
5 Indigenous art in higher education: ‘Palpable history’ as a decolonising strategy for enhancing reconciliation and well-being Catherine Kevin and Fiona Salmon	60

6	The Sq'ewlets Youth Origins Experience: Providing tangible and intangible experiences of ancestral places and belongings in supporting wellness among Indigenous youth and community	79
	David M. Schaepe, Natasha Lyons, Adrienne S. Chan, Andy Phillips and Kate Hennessy
7	The role of museums, collections, and objects in supporting higher education student mental well-being and quality of learning	105
	Thomas Kador, Helen J. Chatterjee and Linda Thomson
8	Art Psychotherapy contemporary practice and training: Objects and materiality	124
	Helen Jury
9	The happy teacher: A critical examination of the joys of object-based learning and teaching in higher education	140
	Cecilia Rodéhn
10	Experiential and object-based learning in nature	157
	Ross Laird
11	Getting to grips with difficult histories in medical museums	173
	Manon S. Parry
12	Preserved Heritage: Stories and objects for mental health patients	183
	Bart De Nil and Pascal Janssens
13	Embedding museum objects in patient care: Object-based learning training for mental health professionals	197
	Julia Cort
	Index	215