

Contents

Acknowledgments	page vii
1 Introduction	1
A. An Old Chestnut is Actually Two	2
B. Pathologies of ad hoc Triangulation	8
C. Functions and Institutions	25
2 Majoritarian Democracy and Minoritarian Constitutionalism	31
A. Judicial Review as Substantially Legitimate Protection of Minority Rights	32
B. Judicial Review as Procedurally Legitimate Protection of Democracy	39
C. Moving Beyond Aggregative Majoritarianism and Minoritarian Constitutionalism	63
3 From Majoritarian to Deliberative Theories of Constitutional Democracy	68
A. Deliberative Democracy: Four Axes of Analysis	68
B. Constitutionalism: Four Central Elements	84
C. Constitutional Democracy?	103
4 Deliberative Democracy and Substantive Constitutionalism	106
A. Keepers of the Substantive Flame of American Exceptionalism	107
B. Guardians of the Moral Law in the Forum of Principle	113
C. Are Substantialist Defenses of Judicial Review Self-Defeating?	124
5 Disagreement and the Constitution of Democracy	130
A. Democratic Precommitment to Judicial Review: Freeman	131
B. Deliberative Majoritarianism and the Paternalism of Judicial Review: Waldron	141
C. Upshot: We Need a Theory of Democratic Constitutionalism	161
6 The Seductions of Juristic Discourse as Democratic Deliberation	163
A. A Division of Labor between Juristic Deliberation and Populist Aggregation?	164

	B. Actual Juristic Discourse in the United States System of Constitutional Adjudication	184
	C. Legal Principles and Moral-Political Reasoning	207
7	Constitutionalism as the Procedural Structuring of Deliberative Democracy	221
	A. A Provisional Summary: Criteria for an Adequate Theory of Constitutional Review	221
	B. Guardians of the Conditions of Procedural Legitimacy: Habermas	227
8	The Institutions of Constitutional Review I: Design Problems and Judicial Review	253
	A. The Problems of Designing Institutions of Constitutional Review	253
	B. Independent Constitutional Courts in a Concentrated Review System	274
9	The Institutions of Constitutional Review II: Horizontal Dispersal and Vertical Empowerment	301
	A. Self-Review Panels in the Legislature and Regulatory Agencies	302
	B. Mechanisms for Interbranch Debate and Decisional Dispersal	305
	C. Easing Formal Amendability Requirements	312
	D. Establishing Civic Constitutional Fora	323
	Bibliography	342
	Index	355
	Table of Cases	366