Preface (J. Folta)	9
Opening of the Conference by Prof. Dr Václav Prosser , prorector of the Charles University	21
I. Úlehla , One hundred and fifty years since the birth of Ernst Mach	25
J. B. Barbour , Einstein and his interpretation of Mach's principle	67
J. Ehlers , Remarks on the relation between Machian ideas and gen- eral relativity	83
J. Niederle , Ernst Mach and gravitational theories	91
H. Pfister , Partial realization of Mach's idea of relativity of rotation in general relativity	101
F. Embacher , Machian effects in general relativity	117
J. Bičák , Machian aspects of the present day cosmology	131
E. Schmutzer , After-effective influence of Ernst Mach on relativistic thinking in contemporary physics	151
Yu.S. Vladimirov , Ernst Mach and multidimensional theories of phys- ical interactions	163
V. P. Vizgin , Mach's influence on the inception of general relativity	177
J. Langer , Mach's approach to variational principles	195
J. Novotný, J. Horský , The Mach principle and the inverse variational problem	199
M. T. Morovics , The spark patterns of Karol Antalík - A source of Mach's work in the field of aerodynamics	205
R. Dvořák , Contribution of Ernst Mach to gas dynamics	217
J. Horák , Ernst Mach and the aeroacoustics, fluid mechanics and hydromechanics	237
J. Jerie , Ernst Mach's pupil Čeněk Strouhal and his research on "singing wires"	249
J. Pinkava , Comparison of Mach's and Boltzmann's views of the 1st and 2nd laws of thermodynamics	259
M. Černohorský , Mach's criticism on Newton's axiomatization and the Rotation in Lex I	267
M. Černohorský , Mach's concept of force and the contemporary school physics	271

J. Illy , Mach, Lorentz and Einstein on ether	277
I. Štoll , Mach and Doppler effect	285
F. Fabian , Ernst Mach and the theory of probability	295
J. Komrska , Mach and optics	299
J. Janko , Mach's research on the boundary of physics and physiology	307
D. Hoffmann , O. Pöss , J. Chrapan , Ernst Mach as experimenter	325
A. Hohenester , Ernst Mach as a didactician, and as an author of textbooks and of curricula	343
A. Hladík , Ernst Mach's influence on Czech textbooks of physics	353
G. Holton , Ernst Mach in America	357
M. Jalón , A critical reflection on Mach. Musil's point of view . .	381
K. von Meyenn , Ernst Mach's influence on Boltzmann, Schrödinger and Pauli	397
H. Laitko , The economy principle in Mach's methodology and theory of science	417
Remarks of Prof. Schmutzer	434
G. Wolters , Mach on atoms and relativity	435
Comments of Gerald Holton on the presentation of Professor Wolters	456
S. Hubík , Physics without metaphysics	465
Short talks given at the rector's reception	473
J. B. Barbour (The value of history for modern research) . . .	473
G. Holton	475
I. Úlehla (A remark on Mach's influence on Czech universities) .	477
Yu. S. Vladimirov	478
J. Ehlers (On the role of history in teaching physics)	480
H. Pfister	481
J. Bičák (Tradition in contemporary science - a few examples inspired by spiritus loci)	481
Appendix	485
The list of Mach's pedagogical activity on the Charles University of Prague during 1867/8 - 1895/6 (I. Tretera)	487
The doctorandi of Prof. Mach during 1877-1895 (I. Tretera) . .	494

The bibliography of Ernst Mach from the years of his Prague activity
(I. Tretera) 495

Unveiling the new plaque on Mach's native house in Brno - Chrlice
(M. Černohorský, M. Fojtíková) 503

Personal register 507

Register of Mach's quoted works 518

Participants of the Conference 521
