

Table of Contents

Table of Contents	v
Abbreviations	ix
Acknowledgement	1
Introduction	3

Chapter I: The Landscape and the Peoples of Assyria and the Zagros ...

1. Introduction	11
1.1. Assyria's Landscape, topography and its peoples	11
1.2. Zagros's landscape, topography, and its peoples	19
1.3. Immigrants and Migrants	46
1.4. Deported peoples from and into the Zagros	46
1.5. Runaways	56

Chapter II: Immaterial Culture 61

2. Introduction	63
2.1. Languages and writing systems	63
2.1.1. Introduction	63
2.1.2. Bilingual and trilingual records in the Zagros, Multilingualism in the Zagros	69
2.1.3. Writing systems	72
2.1.4. Interpreters	75
2.2. Personal Names	77
2.2.1. People in the Zagros with Assyrian (Akkadian) names	78
2.2.2. People in the Assyrian heartland with Zagrosian/Iranian names	80
2.2.3. Some aspects of local names in the Zagros	80
2.2.4. Personal names with a divine element (theophoric names)	84
2.2.6. Toponyms as personal names	85
2.2.7. The proper names of the Zagrosian deportees	86
2.2.8. Personal names and ethnicity	86
2.2.9. Assyrian Eponyms in the Zagros	87
2.3. Toponyms and Geographical names	90
2.3.1. Toponyms and Geographical names in the light of the Assyrian records ...	90
2.3.2. Toponyms marked with the determinative URU	90
2.3.3. Zagrosian cities prefixed with Bīt/É	91
2.3.4. Rivers, seas and waters of the Zagros in the Assyrian records	91
2.3.5. Renamed cities	92
2.3.6. Two cities, one name!	93
2.3.7. Local linguistic elements in toponyms	94

2.3.8. Zagrosian city-names prefixed with Akkadian Dūr/BĀD	96
2.3.9. The Assyrian policy of re-naming Zagrosian cities	97
2.4. Literature and mythology	101
2.4.1. The Mount Nišir/Nimuš of the Gilgamesh Epic where the Ark landed	102
2.4.2. Gilgamesh and Enkidu killing Humbaba	103
2.4.3. The story/epic of Etana	105
2.4.4. Capturing Anzu in the 'Zagros' mountains	106
2.4.5. The monstrous bird Imdugud	113
2.4.6. The demon Pazuzu	114
2.4.7. Three headed dragon on the golden bowl of Hasanlu	116
2.4.8. Deities dwelling in the Zagros mountains	117
2.4.9. The Netherworld and the Zagros mountains	118
2.5. Religion and Festivals in war and peace	119
2.5.1. Aššur: the deity by which the city, the kingdom and the people were named ...	119
2.5.2. The Assyrian holy war	123
2.5.3. Peaks, cities, and rivers called with deity names	125
2.5.4. Nabû, god of the scribes in Babylonia, Assyria, and the Zagros	126
2.5.5. The main deities in the Zagros	128
2.5.6. Palil (Nergal), the protecting tribal god in Media	131
2.5.7. Tiglath-pileser III sacrifices to Marduk in the land Tīl-Aššuri in Media	131
2.5.8. Adad-narari II made sacrifices before Teššub of Kumme	131
2.5.9. Vassal treaties with the rulers of the Zagros and swearing oaths by the Assyrian deities	131
2.5.10. Divine names in personal names	132
2.5.11. Deporting deities from and into the Zagros by the Assyrians	133
2.5.12. Zagrosian priests in Assyria; Assyrian priests in the Zagros	139
2.5.13. Assyrian rituals in the Zagros	140
2.5.14. Assyrian and Zagrosian festivals, Akītu festivals	140
2.5.15. Sacrificing on the Assyrian-Mannean border	143
2.5.16. Building a dam in Urartu and sacrificing to the Urartian deities and to Aššur!	143
2.5.17. Omens and curses	144
2.6. Social Structure	146
2.7. Political and Administrative Relations	149
2.7.1. Occupation and the military campaigns	149
2.7.2. The Assyrian titles for the occupied cities in the Zagros	150
2.7.3. Annexation policy	151
2.7.4. Taking the princes as hostage	154
2.7.5. Deportations/the forced migrations	156
2.7.6. Diplomacy, Assyria and the Zagros	156
2.7.7. Assyrian Vassal Treaties with Media, and Mazamua	160
2.7.8. Postal services in Arzuḫina and Mazamua	162
2.7.9. Royal/dynastic marriage cases between the Zagros and Assyria	163
2.8. Economy and Trade	166

2.8.1. Economy	166
2.8.2. Trade and commercial activities between Assyria and the Zagros and beyond	175
Chapter III: Arts and Pottery	199
3.1 Introduction	201
3.2. The Assyrian and local reliefs and stelae in the Zagros	201
3.3. The Assyrian reliefs and the Zagros	222
3.4. Wall paintings in the Zagros	227
3.5. Assyrian and Local Glazed Bricks in the Zagros	230
3.6. Seals and Sealing	264
3.7. Ivories in Assyria and the Zagros	281
3.8. Mosaic Glass	290
3.9. Metalwork	291
3.10. Textiles and Costumes	306
3.11. Pottery in Assyria and the Zagros	321
Chapter IV: Architecture	327
4. Introduction	339
4.1. Assyrian and Zagrosian palaces in the Zagros	339
4.2. Temples and religious places in the Zagros	352
4.3. Cities and towns	385
4.4. Assyrian and local fortifications in the Zagros	396
4.5. Temporary and permanent Assyrian camps in the Zagros	411
4.6. The Iron Age villages of the Zagros	413
4.7. Private houses of the Zagros	414
4.8. Some architectural features	425
4.9. Assyrian and Zagrosian tombs, graves and burials	433
4.10. Hydraulic projects: canals, aqueducts, weirs (qanat), kahrez, and dams	450
5. General Conclusions	479
6. Appendix	485
7. Bibliography	501
8. Indices	557