

Contents

Special Issue: The future of EU fundamental rights

Guest Editorial

The future of EU fundamental rights	137
Šejla Imamović, Elin Börjedal, and Eleonora Di Franco

Articles

The positive obligations doctrine: A means of effective fundamental rights protection in EU Member States?	147
Anna V. Backé
From low- to high-intensity review in the protection of EU fundamental rights	171
Darren Harvey
The 'autonomization' of EU fundamental rights protection: Insights into the recent ECJ case law on Article 52(3) CFR	188
Charlotte Langenfeld
EU governance through funding: What consequences for the scope of application of EU fundamental rights?	215
Ilaria Gambardella
Common constitutional traditions: A story of genesis and normative transformations	234
Jaka Kukavica
The European Court of Justice, the EU Charter and the interpretation of fundamental social rights: Judicial law-making in disguise?	254
Maxime Tecqmenne
Questioning the coherence of the freedom to conduct a business: Insights from the Court of Justice of the European Union	273
Eline Couperus
Revisiting the social deficit: Social rights and the liberal conception of the person in EU law	297
Elisabeth Schöyen	