

CONTENTS

---

Preface	xiv
Table of Cases	xvi
Table of Legislation	xli
Table of Treaties	xlvi
Acknowledgements	li

PART ONE: STRUCTURES

1 THE EUROPEAN UNION IN SEARCH OF AN IDENTITY	3
The idea of Europe	3
History	7
The twentieth century impetus towards integration	9
Post-war	9
The relance	12
The EEC	12
The neo-functional vision of integration	13
Community crisis and retrenchment	16
Stagnation	20
Transformation by stealth?	23
Regeneration	24
The road to Maastricht	28
Enlargement and external affairs	33
Other events in external affairs	33
The Treaty of Amsterdam	34
Beyond Amsterdam and Nice	35
The Continuing quest for identity	37
2 INSTITUTIONAL STRUCTURES: LEGISLATIVE AND EXECUTIVE	45
Institutional balance in the EU	48
An epistemic community?	50
THE COMMISSION	53
Composition	54
Appointment	55
Organisation	57
The President of the Commission	58
The services	59
The Commission at work	60
Collegiality and working method	61

Functions of the Commission	62
(a) Policy initiator	62
Legislative functions	64
The Commission's own power of legislation	64
Delegated legislation and comitology	65
(b) Executive powers	69
(c) Guardian of EC law	69
Conclusions	70
The Commission crisis of 1999	71
The Prodi reformation	73
THE COUNCIL	74
Operation	76
Voting	78
Other functions	81
Reflections on the Council	81
Reform	83
Legitimacy	84
THE PARLIAMENT	85
Composition and organisation	86
Functions and powers	89
Legislative power	90
The Parliament's budgetary powers	91
Power of democratic supervision	91
Reflections	94
THE EUROPEAN COUNCIL	96
THE COURT OF AUDITORS	97
THE EUROPEAN CENTRAL BANK	99
Transparency and legitimacy	102
THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COMMITTEE	104
THE COMMITTEE OF THE REGIONS	105
THE EUROPEAN OMBUDSMAN	106
EXECUTIVE AGENCIES	107
3 LAW-MAKING AND DEMOCRACY IN THE EU	110
SOURCES OF LAW IN THE EU	110
Types of Community act under Article 249 EC	112
Acts sui generis	114
Acts under the second and third pillars of the TEU and acts of the Council as an intergovernmental body	114
Soft law	115
A hierarchy of norms?	115
THE LAW-MAKING PROCESS	116
Types of legislative procedure	117
Consultation	117
Cooperation	118
Codecision	119
Assent	124

Legislation and Social Dialogue	124
Delegated decision-making	124
DEMOCRACY IN THE EU	129
Ineffective parliamentary control	131
Executive control of decision-making and the problematic nature of comitology	135
Making comitology more accountable	136
The constitutionalising (or not) of comitology?	141
Transparency and simplified law-making	142
Article 255 EC and its consequences	146
Regulation 1049/2001	147
Better law-making	148
European identity and public participation	150
 4 THE DIVISION OF POWERS BETWEEN THE COMMUNITY AND MEMBER STATES: EMBRYONIC FEDERALISM?	 155
Introduction	155
The express competences of the EC	158
Implied powers and Article 308	160
Article 308	161
Legal basis	163
Preemption	169
The future of the Union and the debate on competences	171
Subsidiarity	173
Origins and meaning	173
The incorporation of subsidiarity into the EU	175
Legal analysis	176
Justiciability	180
Implementation	181
Proportionality	183
Subsidiarity, proportionality and the growing focus on proceduralism	185
Flexibility and cooperation	187
The nature of flexibility	187
Enhanced cooperation under Title VI TEU	189
The problems of flexibility	191
Constitutionalising issues	191
A federal Union?	192
 PART TWO: THE EUROPEAN COURTS, THE NATIONAL COURTS AND THE CONSTITUTION
 5 THE EUROPEAN COURTS: LAW, POLICY AND JUDICIAL ACTIVISM	 199
Composition and organisation	200
Advocates general	202

Referendaires	203
Procedure	204
Appeals from the CFI	207
Methods of interpretation	207
Contextual and teleological interpretation	209
Law and policy-making	210
Acceptable judicial activism?	213
The importance of legal reasoning	217
The retreat from activism	219
Pressing problems	223
 6 PRELIMINARY REFERENCES UNDER ARTICLE 234: COOPERATIVE PARTNERSHIP OR PROTO-FEDERALISM?	 225
The procedure under Article 234	226
The subject matter of the reference	227
Interpretation not application	228
Validity	229
The practice of Article 234	230
‘Any court or tribunal of a member state’	230
When to refer	233
Courts which may refer	233
The national courts	233
The ECJ’s approach to national court discretion	234
The Dzodzi jurisdiction	240
Accepting references in situations of reverse discrimination	241
Note for guidance on references by national courts	242
The obligation to refer under Article 234(3)	242
Acte clair/acte éclairé and the creation of European precedents	244
Other types of preliminary reference	249
The changing face of Article 234: the nature of the relationship with the national courts	249
The future	252
 7 SUPREMACY, SOVEREIGNTY AND PLURALISM	 255
Constitutionalism, competence and sovereignty	259
The national response to supremacy	262
The political response	263
The judicial response	264
Sovereignty, constitutionalism and legal theory	277
 8 DIRECT EFFECT: FOUNDATION OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL ORDER?	 282
Direct effect of international agreements	287
Direct effect of directives	288

An enforcement function	291
Prompting legislation	293
Delimiting direct effect	295
The concept of the state	296
Pockets of resistance	298
France	298
Germany	302
Indirect effect	303
Towards a horizontal direct effect of directives	307
Conclusions	310
 9 REMEDIES IN THE NATIONAL COURTS: THE EFFECTIVENESS OF EC LAW ON TRIAL	 312
Inroads into national procedural autonomy	314
Growing caution?	318
State liability in damages	321
Further clarification	323
A sliding scale of liability?	325
The intrusiveness of the European norm	329
More questions	333
Damage	333
Status of the remedy	334
Private actions	335
Back to national procedural autonomy?	336
A new jus commune ?	336
 PART THREE: DIRECT ACTIONS: A LACK OF INDIVIDUAL JUSTICE?
 10 CONTROLLING THE COMMUNITY INSTITUTIONS: JUDICIAL REVIEW	 343
Introduction	343
Article 230 (formerly 173): the Community legal order and the action for annulment	344
A reviewable act	346
The author of the act	350
Locus standi	351
Privileged applicants	352
Non-privileged applicants	353
Direct concern	356
Individual concern	357
A more liberal case law?	359
Competition, state aids and anti-dumping cases	360
A new direction?	361
Representative groups, pressure groups and public interest actions	363

The demand for wider access	366
Critical conclusions	369
Grounds of review	370
(1) Lack of competence	371
(2) Infringement of an essential procedural requirement	371
(3) Infringement of the treaty or any rule of law relating to its application	373
(4) Misuse of powers	376
The intensity of judicial review	376
Actions under Article 232 for failure to act	379
What omissions are reviewable?	380
Locus standi	380
Procedure	381
Indirect challenge under Article 241	382
Consequences of a finding of invalidity	384
 11 CONTROLLING THE COMMUNITY INSTITUTIONS:     ACTIONS FOR DAMAGES	 386
Introduction	386
Community liability	387
Elements of liability	389
Wrongful acts imputable to the Community	389
(a) Negligent acts by servants of the Community in the pursuit of their duties	390
(b) Administrative acts	391
(c) Liability for wrongful acts having legal effects	392
The ' Schöppenstedt ' formula	394
Conclusions on Schöppenstedt	399
Damage and causation	400
Damage	401
Causation	402
Concurrent liability	402
Community non-contractual liability and member state liability under Francovich	404
Conclusions	405
 12 CONTROLLING THE MEMBER STATES	 407
Introduction	407
Types of violation	409
Other violations of EC law	410
Breaches not attributable to central government	411
Defences	414
(a) Administrative difficulties/economic problems	415
(b) EC law itself is illegal	415

(c) Another member state is in breach	415
(d) Force majeure	415
Procedure	416
(a) Informal administrative	416
(b) Formal administrative	416
(c) The judicial stage	417
Interim measures	418
Actions by member states	419
Sanctions	419
Incoherence of procedure	422
The Commission's discretion	423
Effectiveness	426

PART FOUR: THE DEVELOPING CONSTITUTION

13 THE EU AND HUMAN RIGHTS	431
Fundamental rights and citizenship in the EU: the growth of an idea	432
A floating concept?	434
The European Court of Justice and Human Rights	437
(1) 'The sins of youth'	437
(2) Defensive use of human rights	438
(3) Binding the member states	442
(4) Member state nationals exercising Community rights	443
(5) The continuing development of a fundamental rights jurisprudence	445
Difficult questions	450
(1) Which rights should be observed and protected by the EU?	451
(2) The status of general principles of law	452
(3) Economic integration or rights?	454
(4) Evaluation of the ECJ's review	458
Human rights and external relations	462
Human rights as a condition of entry to the EU	463
The human rights clauses	464
Trade preferences	465
Human rights in the context of the EU's common foreign and security policy (CFSP)	466
The way forward	466
Accession to the ECHR?	467
The EU Charter of Rights	470
The Convention	471
The legal effect of the Charter	473
The content of the Charter	474
Specific problems	476
Scope	477
Conclusions	478

14 IN SEARCH OF UNION CITIZENSHIP	479
Post-national membership	480
Citizenship	483
The market citizen	486
Exclusionary citizenship	489
Economic rights	491
The 'good' citizen	493
Determining the public realm	497
A human rights foundation for citizenship?	498
Social citizenship	500
A concept of social citizenship?	502
Problems of a European social citizenship	502
Equality and equal treatment	504
Equal treatment between the sexes at work: differentiated citizenship?	504
A more general non-discrimination right?	509
The broadening of non-discrimination on grounds of nationality	511
Realising European citizenship	514
15 A CONSTITUTION FOR EUROPE?	515
(1) The EU already has a constitution	516
Elements of a constitution	516
'A new legal order'	518
(2) The transformation of Europe has not been entirely satisfactory	520
The problematic relationship between Community and member states	520
The EU's claim to sovereignty currently rests on inadequate normative foundations	521
(3) How can the EU do better?	521
A constitutional convention	521
Reasonable pluralism	523
The problems of reasonable pluralism	525
More problems of reasonable pluralism	527
Discursive democracy	530
The inadequate public realm	531
Determining the public realm	532
The paradox of constitutional democracy	533
Constituting the pouvoir constituant	535
A proposal	537
Index	541