

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Abbreviations	xi
Glossary	xii
1. Introduction	i
2. Discourse, Memory, and Identity	18
3. Latvian State and Nation-Building	36
4. Russian-Language Media and Identity Formation	67
5. Examining Russian-Speaking Identity from Below	103
6. The ‘Democratisation of History’ and Generational Change	129
7. The Primacy of Politics? Political Discourse and Identity Formation	149
8. The Russian Federation and Russian-Speaking Identity in Latvia	169
9. A Bright Future?	196
Appendix 1: Materials Presented to Focus Group Participants for Discussion	200
1: Excerpt from Chas 20 September 2010	200
2: Excerpt from Chas 6 October 2010	200
3: Excerpt from Chas 26 February 2009	200
4: Excerpt from Chas 11 December 2008	201
5: Excerpt from Chas 6 September 2010	202

6: Excerpt from Harmony Centre Website	202
Appendix 2: Full Results of 9 May Survey	204
Appendix 3: Preamble to the Latvian Constitution (Satversme)	208
Bibliography	210
Index	224