

Table of Contents

Foreword.....	I
Acknowledgments	V
Introduction.....	1
Chapter 1 – Thinking Straight	9
Maxim 1 – When you are having trouble getting your thinking straight, go to an extreme case.....	10
Maxim 2 – When you are having trouble getting your thinking straight, go to a simple case.....	22
Maxim 3 – Don't take refuge in complexity.....	27
Maxim 4 – When trying to understand a complex real-world situation, think of an everyday analogue.....	35
Chapter 2 – Tackling Uncertainty	45
Maxim 5 – The world is much more uncertain than you think	46
Maxim 6 – Think probabilistically about the world	63
Maxim 7 – Uncertainty is the friend of the status quo	85
Chapter 3 – Making Decisions	91
Maxim 8 – Good decisions sometimes have poor outcomes..	92

Maxim 9 – Some decisions have a high probability of a bad outcome	104
Maxim 10 – Errors of commission should be weighted the same as errors of omission	109
Maxim 11 – Don't be limited by the options you have in front of you	115
Maxim 12 – Information is only valuable if it can change your decision	116
Chapter 4 – Understanding Policy	121
Maxim 13 – Long division is the most important tool for policy analysis	122
Maxim 14 – Elasticities are a powerful tool for understanding many important things in life	129
Maxim 15 – Heterogeneity in the population explains many phenomena	134
Maxim 16 – Capitalize on complementarities	144
Chapter 5 – Living Fully	151
Maxim 17 – Strive hard not to be envious – see your friend's success as your gain	152
Maxim 18 – Eliminate regret	154

Maxim 19 – Make pleasure-enhancing decisions long in advance, to increase the utility of anticipation.....	158
Brief but important life maxims	165
Living with the Maxims.....	167
Appendix A – Gratitude.....	175
Appendix B – Contributors	183
References.....	205
Index.....	211
Notes.....	217
About Richard Zeckhauser.....	233
About the Author.....	234