

Contents

|                                                                                                                       |     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Platform Regulation: Ex Ante Tools and Strategies in the Regulatory Toolkit . . . . .                          | 1   |
| Tatjana Jovanić                                                                                                       |     |
| The Interoperability Requirements for Digital Gatekeepers . . . . .                                            | 35  |
| Matija Damjan                                                                                                         |     |
| Recalibrating Territoriality in Platform End-User License Agreements . . . . .                                 | 55  |
| István Harkai and Péter Mezei                                                                                         |     |
| The Digital Platforms’ Sisyphean Task: Reconciling Content Moderation and Freedom of Expression . . . . .      | 83  |
| Dušan V. Popović                                                                                                      |     |
| Moving Towards More Transparent Online Platforms Under the Digital Services Act. . . . . .                     | 105 |
| Magdalena Knapp and Anna Piszcz                                                                                       |     |
| Stakeholder Engagement in EU Digital Platform Regulations: Ways Forward and Persisting Gaps . . . . .          | 125 |
| Giulia Schneider                                                                                                      |     |
| Below the DMA-Threshold: Access Between Data Protection and Unfair Competition . . . . .                       | 155 |
| Rainer Kulms                                                                                                          |     |
| Self-Preferencing Practices and Their Future After the DMA . . . . .                                           | 189 |
| Giacomo Tagiuri                                                                                                       |     |
| Digital Markets Act: A Promise for a Fairer Digital Environment or a Failed Experiment? . . . . .              | 227 |
| Thomas Papadopoulos and Louiza Kofina                                                                                 |     |
| Re-orientating Digital Platform Regulation in the US and Australia: Treading Water or Experimenting? . . . . . | 253 |
| Yane Svetiev                                                                                                          |     |