

Contents

1	Introduction	1
	Bibliography	30
 Part I Contexts of Czechoslovakian School System Development
2	From the Habsburg Monarchy to the Czechoslovak Republic: Education in Historical Context	37
	2.1 Education Since the Eighteenth Century	37
	2.2 Interwar Czechoslovakia (1918–1938)	40
	2.3 Interwar Education: A Period of Many (Un)successful Reforms	42
	2.4 Schooling During World War II	45
	Bibliography	47
3	From Stalinism to the Prague Spring—Education in Complicated Times	51
	3.1 The Forms of Postwar Reconstruction (1945–1953)	52
	3.2 Stabilization of the Communist Regime and the Period of Hope (1953–1968)	55
	3.3 Prague Spring 1968	56
	3.4 Postwar School System—Between Two Totalitarian Systems	58
	3.5 A Period of Chaotic Changes in the 1950s	62
	3.6 Socialism with a Human Face in Schools	64
	3.7 Teachers and Schools After August 1968	67
	3.8 Ideological Hardening After 1969: The Advent of ‘Normalization’ and Ideological Education	70
	Bibliography	73

4	Schools and Teachers Two Decades Before the Fall of the Communist Regime	77
4.1	Normalization in Czechoslovakia (1969–1989)	78
4.2	Normalization in Education: The Way Back	83
4.3	A Look Inside a Socialist Teacher's Workshop	88
4.4	Aids and Textbooks in a Socialist School	90
4.5	Teachers' Life Outside Work, or Teachers Shall Not Live by School Alone	97
4.6	Perestroika and the Debate on School System Reforms	103
	Bibliography	110
Part II Schools and Teachers in the Period of Changes
5	Transforming the Education System: A Difficult Return to Democratic Europe.	117
5.1	Broader Contexts of Transformation: Between Ideology, Chaos, and Freedom.	117
5.2	Legislative Framework of Reforms: (Only) Partial Changes.	121
5.3	Expert Discussions on the School System Reforms After 1989	125
5.4	Schools and Economic Problems of Transformation.	130
5.5	Comparison of the Transformation of the School System with Neighbouring Post-Socialist Countries.	135
	Bibliography	138
6	Schools: Everyday Life in the Period of Post-Socialist Transformation	143
6.1	Schools on the Threshold of a New Era.	143
6.2	Staffing Changes in Schools	150
6.3	New School Management	161
6.4	Educational Offices: The Backbone of Primary Schools.	164
6.5	Municipality as the Founder of the School	168
6.6	School Autonomy—Hopes and Disappointments	171
	Bibliography	177
7	Schools in a Network of (External) Relationships	179
7.1	People Involved in School Life and the Transformation of Relationships Between Them	180
7.2	Small-Town Schools and the Founding of Multi-year Grammar Schools.	185
7.3	Large Urban Schools and the Reverberations of Late Socialist Building	191
7.4	Schools and Social Inequalities in Society	195
7.5	The Functional Rural Community and Its Impact on School Life	200
7.6	Transformation of School Inspection After 1989	204
	Bibliography	208

8	Teachers: Various Life Stories and Perspectives	213
8.1	Generations	213
8.2	Karel's Story	215
8.3	František's Story	220
8.4	Olga's Story	224
8.5	Vlasta's Story	231
8.6	Life Stories in the Context of Time	238
	Bibliography	240
9	Learning and Teaching: The Legacy of the Socialist Era and New Challenges	243
9.1	On Teaching and Learning	243
9.2	The Revolution in Schools (That Didn't Happen)	246
9.3	Textbooks: New Possibilities and the Free Market	250
9.4	Aids and Equipment in Schools – A Good Basis of a Socialist School.	253
9.5	Computers in Primary Schools: The First Shy Steps.	255
9.6	Foreign Language Teaching: Clear Direction, Difficult Implementation	258
9.7	Further Teacher Education: The Old System Has to Be Abolished, But What Next?	260
9.8	Looking Back at the Interviews	262
	Bibliography	264
	Conclusion	267
	Index	279

Jiří Zounek (1960) works as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Educational Research at the Faculty of Education, Masaryk University in Brno. He focuses primarily on the transformations of the Czech countryside in the second half of the twentieth century with an emphasis on the period of late socialism and post-socialist transformation. He is also interested in the contemporary countryside and the Oto Palouček (1990) works as Assistant Professor in the Department of European Ethnology at the Faculty of Arts at Masaryk University in Brno. He focuses primarily on the transformations of the Czech countryside in the second half of the twentieth century with an emphasis on the period of late socialism and post-socialist transformation. He is also interested in the contemporary countryside and the