

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments vii

1. Introduction	1
2. Anthropologies and Human Rights in the Academic Debate	24
3. The General Public, Academic Anthropologies, and Human Rights	49
4. The Public's Biological Anthropologies: DNA and Analogies to Existing Humans	71
5. The Public's Philosophical Anthropologies: Autonomous and Social Traits	101
6. The Public's Theological Anthropologies: The Image of God and the Soul	127
7. The Public's Socially Conferred Anthropologies: Humans Making Humans Human	153
8. Conclusion: Reassessing the Academic Debate about Anthropologies	173

Appendix A: Formal Statistical Analyses of the Survey Data	191
---	-----

Appendix B: Public Opinion Survey	207
--	-----

Appendix C: In-Depth Interviews	215
--	-----

Notes	225
--------------	-----

Works Cited	243
--------------------	-----

Index	251
--------------	-----