

Contents

List of boxes and figures	vi
Acknowledgements	viii
1	Designing qualitative research	1
	What this chapter is about	1
	The fundamental principles of qualitative research	1
	Five difficult questions	4
	Aims and objectives	7
	The philosophy toolkit for qualitative research	8
	Positivism	9
	Interpretivisms	10
	How to use the philosophy toolkit	18
	Methodologies and methods	18
	The methods toolkit	19
	Final thoughts	24
2	Developing the design	27
	What this chapter is about	27
	Interpretive sampling	27
	The initial sample	28
	The ongoing sample	31
	The final sample	32
	Sample fitness and the thorny issue of sample size	32
	Interpretive sampling in action: Brexit and the British abroad	36
	Reviewing the literature	39
	Designing tools for participants	41
	Conducting a pilot study	43
	Evaluating qualitative research	44
	Final thoughts	49
3	Being ethical and reflexive	51
	What this chapter is about	51
	Being ethical	52
	Informed consent	52
	The participant information sheet	52
	The consent form	53
	Gaining and ensuring consent	53
	Understanding public and private spaces	54
	Respecting confidentiality and anonymity	56
	Being trustworthy and building rapport	58

	Assessing risk and avoiding harm	60
	Dealing with thorny issues	61
	Gaining ethical approval	62
	Key issues raised by codes of ethics	62
	Being reflexive	64
	Final thoughts	69
4	Interviewing	71
	What this chapter is about	71
	The logic of interpretivist qualitative interviewing	71
	Qualitative interview styles for your toolkit	75
	The individual, in-depth, semi-structured interview	79
	Designing the discussion guide	79
	Arranging the interview	84
	Navigating the interview	86
	Dealing with challenging issues	90
	Final thoughts	93
5	Group discussions	95
	What this chapter is about	95
	A bit of background	95
	A conventional definition	96
	When to use focus groups	96
	Who is going to take part?	99
	Who can we put together?	99
	How many focus groups?	100
	How many participants in a group?	100
	Organisational issues	101
	Setting the agenda and getting started	102
	Discussion guides	102
	Navigating the discussion	104
	A note on transcribing and analysing	111
	Doing things differently	112
	Final thoughts	115
6	Being ethnographic	117
	What this chapter is about	117
	Where we started: the foundational narrative	118
	Where we are now: contemporary (adjectival) ethnographies	122
	Applying ethnography	123
	Ten enduring key principles	124
	Amending ethnography	134
	Evaluating ethnography	138
	Ethnographic analysis and insights	139

7	Being creative	143
	What this chapter is about	143
	Being creative and the logic of qualitative research	144
	Five inspirational ways to be creative	148
	Final thoughts	161
8	Analysing and interpreting	163
	What this chapter is about	163
	Interpretive analysis: the logic	164
	Five traditions and their common approach	166
	The spiral of heuristics in interpretive analysis	170
	Tips to help you be iterative-inductive	180
	Data management	183
	Using the spiral of heuristics	185
9	Communicating	187
	What this chapter is about	187
	Higher-level analysis: categorising, conceptualising and interpreting	187
	Outputs and audiences	198
	Structuring your communications	200
	Illustrating richness and nuance	206
	Having a sense of style	210
	Final thoughts	213
	Transformative and inspiring qualitative research	215
	References	217
	Index	234