
Contents

Foreword: Minkowski and Phenomenological Psychiatry Dan Zahavi	vii
By Way of Preface (Reflections on the Past on the Occasion of the Second Printing of Lived Time)	xiii
Author's Introduction	3
Part I. Essay on the Temporal Aspect of Life
1 Becoming and the Essential Elements of Time-Quality (The Principle of Unfolding)	13
2 The Essential Characteristics of the Personal Elan (The Points of Intersection in Becoming. The Principle of the Union beyond the Ego or the Transpersonal Union)	44
3 Vital Contact with Reality. Lived Synchronism (Phenomena at the Base of Parallelism. The Principle of Penetration or Participation)	64
4 The Future (The Phenomena at the Base of the "Further" and of "Horizon." The Principle of Encasement)	79
5 Death ("A" Life and the Dualism in the Decline of a Life)	130
6 The Past	148
Part II. Spatiotemporal Structure of Mental Disorders
1 General Orientation of Research	171
2 The Notion of a Generating Disorder and the Structural Analysis of Mental Disorders	220