

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction: Guatemalan Elections: Ineffectual Instruments of Democratization	1
Omar Sanchez-Sibony
1 The Perils of Presidentialism: Is Linz Right About Guatemala?	91
Christopher A. Martínez
2 Illicit Networks in Guatemala's Congress: The Criminal Subversion of Democracy	129
Harald Waxenecker
3 Congruence and Representation in Guatemala	169
Annabella España-Nájera and Mar Martínez Rosón
4 The Waves of Judicialization of Politics in Guatemala	197
Jonatán Lemus
5 Purposeful Weakness: How Power Flows Through and Around Guatemala's Legal System	227
Rachel E. Bowen
6 Citizens' Political Culture and Democracy in Guatemala	251
Dinorah Azpuru
7 The Criminal Threat to Democracy in Guatemala	285
Regina Bateson

8	Why No Parties in Guatemala? Lessons from Party Building Theory	317
	Omar Sanchez-Sibony
9	The Struggles of Guatemala's Political Left Post Peace Accord	377
	Michael E. Allison
10	Guatemala's Political Right: Electoral and Non-Electoral Strategies	409
	Omar Sanchez-Sibony
	Appendix: Additional Material for Chapter 3	449
	Index	453
	About the Contributors	473