

Contents

LIST OF BOXES	xiii
LIST OF TABLES	xv
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	xvii
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	xix
1 Security and securitization	1
Defining security	1
The international political agenda	15
The securitization of issues	18
Conclusions	22
Key points	23
Recommended reading	24
Useful web links	24
2 Military threats to security from states	25
Is war inevitable?	26
Prelude to the present military order	30
A New World Order?	34
Liberal perspectives on the New World Order	40
Realist perspectives on the New World Order	45
Marxist perspectives on post-Cold War military security	52
Post-positivist perspectives on the New World Order	53
An end to high politics?	55
Conclusions	57

CONTENTS

	Key points	58
	Recommended reading	59
	Useful web links	59
3	Threats to security from non-state actors	61
	One man's terrorist...	61
	Types of political non-state military groups	63
	The rise of political non-state violence	71
	Responses to political non-state violence	74
	Conclusions: can political non-state violence be defeated?	85
	Key points	87
	Recommended reading	87
	Useful web links	87
4	Economic threats to security	89
	Economic insecurity	89
	Famine	92
	Hunger	96
	Depression	105
	Economic statecraft	107
	Achieving global economic security	109
	Conclusions	111
	Key points	112
	Recommended reading	112
	Useful web links	113
5	Identity, society and insecurity	115
	Security and society	115
	Forms of violent discrimination	116
	Securing the individual – the global politics of human rights	124
	Universalism versus cultural relativism	143
	Key points	147
	Recommended reading	148
	Useful web links	148
6	Environmental threats to security	149
	Introduction	149
	The rise of environmental issues in global politics	152
	Environmental securitization in theory	158
	Environmental securitization in practice	160
	Evaluating environmental securitization	164

Conclusions	169
Key points	170
Recommended reading	170
Useful web links	170
7 Health threats to security	171
The globalization of ill health	171
The development of global health policy	180
The state securitization of health	188
The human securitization of health	189
The globalization of health security	190
Conclusions	194
Key points	196
Recommended reading	197
Useful web links	197
8 Natural threats to security	199
Natural disasters	199
The rise of human vulnerability to nature	208
Preparing for the unexpected – the global politics of natural disaster management	211
Conclusions	216
Key points	217
Recommended reading	218
Useful web links	218
9 Accidental threats to security	219
Accidents will happen? The nature and form of man-made accidents	219
The collateral damage of industrialization? The rise of accidental threats	225
Securing those at risk in the world – international policy on accidents	228
Conclusions	233
Key points	236
Recommended reading	236
Useful web links	237
10 Criminal threats to security	239
Introduction	239
Global crime in historical context	241

CONTENTS

	'New' global crimes	244
	Webs of deceit – the rise in prominence of transnational crime	246
	Global crime fighting	252
	Conclusions	257
	Key points	258
	Recommended reading	258
	Useful web links	258
11	Towards global security?	259
	Thinking global: integration theories and global politics	259
	Acting global: global solutions to global problems	266
	Conclusions	274
	Recommended reading	275
	Useful web links	275
	GLOSSARY	277
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	283
	INDEX	299