

CONTENTS

Introduction to the Second Edition	vii
Introduction to the First Edition	viii
Editors, Contributors and Advisors	ix
Attributions	x
PART 1: CLASSIC HOLLYWOOD CINEMA
INTRODUCTION	3
THE RISE OF THE AMERICAN FILM INDUSTRY	5
Box-Office Attractions	5
The Origins of the Studio System	6
The Coming of Sound and the Studio System in the 1930s	7
Censorship	7
THE STUDIOS	11
Introduction	11
Paramount Pictures	13
Introduction	13
Paramount and the studio system	13
Authorship and house style	14
The war boom, the Paramount Decree and the television era	15
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer	16
Introduction	16
The emergence of MGM	16
MGM in the 1930s	17
The Mayer regime: star-genre cycles and steady decline	17
Warner Bros.	19
Introduction	19
Warners and ‘studio style’	20
Warners and genre	21
The social conscience of Warner Bros.	21
Warners and authorship	22
Columbia Pictures	22
Introduction: Columbia’s populism	22
Capra and populism	23
Stars at Columbia	23
Columbia and the decline of the studio system	24
Columbia and television	25
20th Century–Fox	25
Introduction: The Fox Film Corporation	25
20th Century–Fox and its stars	26
Politics and the studio	26
20th Century–Fox and the decline of the studio system	26
RKO Radio Pictures	28
Introduction	28
RKO and studio style	29
RKO and genre: the film noir cycle	29
RKO’s B-pictures	30
Universal	31
Introduction	31
Universal, studio style and genre	31
Universal in the 1950s and 1960s	32
STARS	33
The Hollywood Star Machine	33
The Hollywood system	33
Production/performance	34
Distribution/publicity	39
Exhibition/spectatorship	39
Studying stars	39
CLASSIC HOLLYWOOD NARRATIVE	39
The Classic Narrative System	40
The classic narrative structure	40
Classic codes of narrative cinema	40

PART 2: TECHNOLOGY
INTRODUCTION	45
SOUND	47
COLOUR	49
DEEP FOCUS	51
LIGHTING	53
WIDESCREEN	54
CAMERAS	57
ALTERNATIVE PRODUCTION FORMATS:
16MM, 8MM AND VIDEO	58
EDITING	59
THE ‘NEW’ TECHNOLOGIES	60
Interactive entertainments	61
Virtual Reality	62
PART 3: NATIONAL CINEMAS AND FILM MOVEMENTS
GERMAN EXPRESSIONISM AND NEW
GERMAN CINEMA	67
German Expressionism	67
An industry in decline	68
New German Cinema	69
SOVIET CINEMA	73
The Jubilee films	74
Emergence of Socialist Realism	74
ITALIAN NEO-REALISM	76
THE FRENCH NOUVELLE VAGUE	80
THE BRITISH FILM INDUSTRY	83
Ealing Studios	83
Hammer Productions	85
British Social Realism: 1959–63	88
PART 4: ALTERNATIVES TO CLASSIC HOLLYWOOD
EARLY CINEMA: AFTER BRIGHTON	93
Cinema of Attractions	93
The Emergence of a Narrative Cinema	95
Exhibition and Reception	96
NEW HOLLYWOOD	98
Three Versions of New Hollywood	100
Disputing ‘The New’	101
‘Event’ Cinema and High Concept	102
Into the Nineties	103
ART CINEMA	106
Art Cinema in Britain	106
Art Cinema as an Institution	107
Art Cinema’s Formal Characteristics	108
Conclusion	110
EAST ASIAN CINEMA	111
Disinterest in Illusionism	111
Mizoguchi and Ozu	111
Rediscovering Traditional Culture	112
AVANT-GARDE AND COUNTER-CINEMA	114
Surrealism	114
The Postwar Avant-Garde	115
Personal film	115
Structural film	117
Avant-garde versus modernism	117
Godard and Counter-cinema	117
Feminist Counter-cinema	118
Return to narrative	119
THIRD WORLD AND POSTCOLONIAL CINEMA	120
Third Cinema: Questions of Terminology	120
The Origins of Third World Cinema	120
Rewriting the Past	122
Allegorical Interpretations	122

The Decline of the Third Worldist Paradigm	123
Fourth World and Indigenous Media	124
Postcolonial Cinema	124
Alternative Aesthetic Strategies	125
Syncretism	125
Archaic sources and Para-modern aesthetics	126
HINDI CINEMA	130
Some Historical Problems	130
Some Industrial Issues	131
Phalke Films	131
Prabhat Studios	131
New Theatres	132
Art, industry and the state	132
PART 5: GENRE
HISTORY OF GENRE CRITICISM	137
Introduction	137
What is Genre Criticism?	137
Genres: Problems of Definition	138
Iconography	138
History and Ideology	140
Genre and industry	141
Genre and authorship	142
Genre: Redirections in the 1980s	143
Genre Theory Since the Early 1980s	143
THE WESTERN	147
Introduction	147
The Western and History	147
Founding Fathers	148
André Bazin	148
Robert Warshow	149
Alan Lovell: the western's formal history	150
Jim Kitses: Horizons West	150
Will Wright	151
Gender and Sexuality in the Western	152
Male spectators and the western	153
Italian westerns	153
Westerns in the 1980s and 1990s	154
MELODRAMA	157
Introduction: Problems of Definition	157
Theorising family melodrama	157
Thomas Elsaesser: melodrama as a problem of 'style and articulation'	158
Sex and Class in Melodrama	159
Geoffrey Nowell-Smith and the male Oedipal crisis	159
Chuck Kleinhans: melodrama and real life	160
Laura Mulvey: the two voices of melodrama	160
Progressing the Debate: Patriarchy and Capitalism	161
Griselda Pollock: the repressed feminine	161
Christian Viviani: class and sex in the maternal melodrama	161
Feminist Approaches to the Female Protagonist	163
Melodrama and the status quo	164
Recent Work on Melodrama and the Woman's Film	164
CONTEMPORARY CRIME	172
The Detective Film	172
The Gangster Film	173
Introduction	173
Warshow: the gangster film as an experience of art	174
McArthur: the gangster/thriller as iconography	174
The gangster film and ideology	175
The formal history of the gangster film	175
Studio, technology and style	176
The death of the gangster: tragedy or melodrama?	178
The Suspense Thriller	179
FILM NOIR	184
Introduction	184
Categories and Definitions	184
The Historical Specificity of Film Noir	185
Industry and aesthetics	186

Genre and social context	186
Women in film noir	186
Noir and neo-noir : recent developments	187
SCIENCE FICTION AND HORROR	191
Science Fiction	191
Horror	194
Introduction	194
Psycho-sociological explanation	196
Robin Wood: the return of the repressed	197
Horror as affect	198
The post-structuralist approach	198
Feminism and the horror film	200
THE MUSICAL	209
TEENPICS	218
COMEDY	223
ACTION-ADVENTURE	228
PART 6: AUTHORSHIP AND CINEMA
INTRODUCTION	235
Cinema as Art or Commodity	235
The Artist as Creative Source	235
The Function of Authorship in Cinema	235
Authors in Art Cinema	236
Ingmar Bergman	237
Federico Fellini	239
THE POLITIQUE DES AUTEURS	240
André Bazin	240
Auteurs Versus Metteurs-en-scène	240
Style and Theme	240
Jean Renoir	240
Fritz Lang	241
Auteurs and Metteurs-en-scène	246
Alfred Hitchcock	246
John Huston	246
Auteurs and Studio	250
William Wyler	250
Orson Welles	250
The French New Wave	253
Jean-Luc Godard	253
Francois Truffaut	253
THE AUTEUR THEORY	256
Andrew Sarris and American Film Criticism	256
'Pantheon directors': D.W. Griffith	256
'The far side of paradise': Nicholas Ray	257
'Expressive esoterica': Donald Siegel	257
Film as commodity product: Roger Corman	258
AUTEUR THEORY AND BRITISH CINEMA	264
The British Critical Context: Movie	264
Free Cinema and British Social Realism	265
Lindsay Anderson	266
Tony Richardson	267
Karel Reisz	267
Movie and Mise-en-scène Analysis	269
Joseph Losey	271
Otto Preminger	271
Elia Kazan	271
Auteurs in British Cinema	275
Carol Reed	275
Michael Powell	275
British cinema: realism and the 'quality film'	275
The ideological function of criticism	275
British Cinema: Auteur and Studio	276
Ealing Studios	276
Hammer Productions	278
STRUCTURALISM AND AUTEUR STUDY	282
French Intellectual Context	282
Political implications of structuralism	283
Ideology and the subject	283
Language as convention	283
The end of the author	283

Structuralism and British Film Criticism284

 The beginnings of ‘English cine-structuralism’284

 A sense of tradition: Robin Wood284

 Unresolved contradictions: Peter Wollen284

 Against interpretation: Alan Lovell285

Auteur structuralism: Geoffrey Nowell-Smith285

Early Structuralist Film Analysis285

Structuralism, Individualism and Auteur Theory286

 The divided author: Samuel Fuller287

Cultural Politics287

Cahiers’ category ‘e’287

 The ‘progressive’ auteur: Douglas Sirk288

 The ‘deconstructive’ auteur: Frank Tashlin289

 The evacuation of the author: Raoul Walsh292

Auteur Structuralism Under Attack294

Signs and Meaning in the Cinema294

 The auteur as structure: Howard Hawks295

AUTEUR STUDY AFTER STRUCTURALISM299

 The Passing of Auteur Structuralism299

 The modernist answer: Peter Wollen299

 The pluralist answer: Edward Buscombe299

 The psychoanalytic answer: Stephen Heath299

 The social answer: Alan Lovell300

 Historicising auteur study300

 John Ford300

 Authorship as ‘Discursive Activity’301

Cahiers du cinema’s ‘John Ford’301

 Stephen Heath’s *Touch of Evil*302

 Authorship and Counter-cinema305

 Jean-Luc Godard306

 Godard and History306

 Counter-cinema and Feminism307

 Agnès Varda307

 Feminism, Auteurism and Hollywood307

 Women Directors in Hollywood309

 Dorothy Arzner309

 Stephanie Rothman310

AUTEURISM IN THE 1990s311

 1970s to 1990s: The Auteur in the Industry311

Auteur Criticism in the 1990s312

Auteurs and Alterity313

Auteurism Now314

PART 7: THEORETICAL FRAMEWORKS

LOOKING AT FILM319

 Film as Representation319

 Editing319

 Film Language320

 Narration322

 Film and the Spectator323

STRUCTURALISM AND ITS AFTERMATH323

 Structural Linguistics: Ferdinand de Saussure324

 The Early Work of Christian Metz: Applying Saussure324

 The cinema: langue or *langage*324

 The ‘grande syntagmatique’325

 Criticisms of Metz325

 The Structural Study of Myth: Lévi-Strauss328

 Lévi-Strauss and film culture328

Roland Barthes: The Analysis of Narrative330

 Reader/viewer and text331

 Questions of method331

 S/Z and film theory331

Narrative and Audience332

 The classic realist text332

 Criticism of classic realism334

Psychoanalysis and Film335

 Laura Mulvey on visual pleasure336

Aftermaths: The Structuralist Controversy Fades337

 Bazin337

 Deleuze339

 Formalism341

PSYCHOANALYSIS341

 Institutional and Intellectual Contexts341

 Screen341

 Psychoanalysis as the cause of division342

 Theoretical Foundations343

 Paradoxes of the ‘decentered’ mind343

 Jacques Lacan: the mirror stage346

 Sigmund Freud: fetishism and male sexual anxiety347

 Sexuality and knowledge348

 Applications348

 Apparatus theory: Christian Metz and

 Jean-Louis Baudry348

 Laura Mulvey349

 The delirious theoretical machine350

 Returning to Freud351

 Alternative methodologies: new dangers351

 Slavoj Žižek: inside the subject351

FEMINIST FILM THEORY353

 Classic Film Narrative353

 A Feminist Counter-cinema354

 The Female Spectator355

 The Female Masquerade355

 The Female Look357

 Female Subjectivity358

 Female Desire358

 Sexual Difference and Its Discontents359

 Gay and Lesbian Criticism360

 Feminist Theory and Race360

 On Masculinity361

 Queer Theory362

 Conclusion362

SPECTATORSHIP AND AUDIENCE RESEARCH366

 The Cinematic Apparatus and Textual Systems366

 Feminst Interventions368

 Theories of the gaze369

 Preclassical Spectatorship369

 Audience composition370

 Reception Theory370

 British Cultural Studies371

 Stars and Fans371

 Ethnographic Research372

 Conclusion372

BIBLIOGRAPHY375

INDEX399