

Detailed Contents

Notes on the Translation	xv
Table of Cases	xvii
List of Abbreviations	xxxv

Introduction: Singular Justice	1
Section 1. So far, and yet so close	5
Section 2. Being an outsider	8
1. Creation	11
Introduction	11
Section 1. The influence of geopolitics	11
§1. The shock of the Second World War	12
A. Europe's reactive approach	13
1. Federative repudiation: the fight against communism	14
2. The unifying ideal: reviving the 'European idea'	15
B. The proactive Latin American approach	18
1. The institutionalization of Pan-Americanism	19
2. The North American domination of Pan-Americanism	21
§2. The interaction of multiple influences in Africa	23
A. The enhancement of sovereign powers	23
B. The shirking of responsibilities	27
Section 2. The influence of legal diplomacy	31
§1. The roles of individuals	31
A. Pierre-Henri Teitgen, a creative genius	32
B. Kéba Mbaye, defender of ethics	37
§2. The roles of institutions	41
A. The Inter-American Juridical Committee	42
B. The International Commission of Jurists	46
Conclusion: Nothing short of a miracle	55

PART I. EVOLUTION

2. Efficacy: A Major Challenge	63
Introduction	63
Section 1. Shaky constructions	64
§1. Adjusting commitments	64
A. Universalization as a done deal in Europe	65
1. A difficult conquest	65
2. A delayed outcome	70

B. Universalization: out of the question in America and Africa?	72
1. The complexity of the African system	73
2. The inter-American cultural schism	76
§2. The denunciation of commitments	82
A. The Regime of the Colonels in Greece and Putin's authoritarian Russia	84
B. Trinidad and Tobago under Robinson, Peru under Fujimori, Venezuela under Chávez, and Nicaragua under Ortega	90
C. Rwanda under Kagamé, Tanzania under Magufuli, Benin under Talon, and Côte d'Ivoire under Ouattara	96
Section 2. Complex constructions	103
§1. European exclusivity	104
A. A period of shared responsibility	105
B. A single, permanent European court	109
1. What is the nature of the European system?	110
2. Questioning the extent of the Court's review	113
§2. Shared jurisdiction	116
A. A period of isolation	116
1. Activism of the Inter-American Commission (1959–1979)	116
2. Deference on the part of the African Commission (1987–2007)	119
B. A period of shared responsibility	127
1. Cooperation in the Americas: arduous going	128
a. Institutional rivalry	128
b. Understanding between institutions	132
2. Organized cooperation in Africa	138
Conclusion: 'Irreducible sovereignty'	146
3. Shaky Legitimacy	149
Introduction	149
Section 1. The choice of rights	151
§1. Drivers of normative expansion	152
A. The duality of legal drivers	152
1. Protocols	152
2. Specialized conventions	155
B. The varying geometry of drivers	159
§2. Trends in normative expansion	164
A. Social content	164
1. European mistrust	164
2. Latin American commitment	166
B. Gender issues	170
1. Legal avant-gardism in Latin America	171
2. African ambition	177

Section 2. The choice of judges	182
§1. The election of judges	183
A. The permanence of discretionary power	184
1. The orthodoxy surrounding the qualifications required of candidates	184
2. The precarious framework of selection procedures	186
B. Uneven transparency around election time	197
1. The institutionalization of checks on candidacies	198
2. Monitoring of candidacies by civil society	203
§2. How representative are judges?	205
A. The profiles of judges	208
B. The gender of judges	216
1. Parity bypassed	217
2. Giving gender parity a boost	222
Conclusion: Legitimacy—an ongoing challenge	224

PART II. INTERPRETATION

4. Decompartmentalization as a Fact	235
Introduction	235
Section 1. Shared elements of decompartmentalization	236
§1. Rebellious decompartmentalization	237
A. The European rebellion	237
B. The inter-American rebellion	240
§2. Faithful decompartmentalization	244
A. Fidelity to the opening clauses	245
B. Fidelity to the will of states	250
Section 2. Particular features of decompartmentalization	257
§1. Relations with national courts	257
A. National decisions in the spotlight	258
B. National decisions overlooked	260
§2. The links between the interpretation of the law and its application	264
A. Explicit links	264
B. Implicit links	270
Conclusion: Decompartmentalization—a shared practice	272
5. The Effects of Decompartmentalization	275
Introduction	275
Section 1. Increasing protection	276
§1. Amending the human rights conventions	276
A. Interpretive decompartmentalization in action	276
1. Determining the content and the scope of rights	277
a. The appropriation of predefined concepts	277
b. Valuing contexts	285

2. The enrichment process	295
a. Enrichment through discovery	295
b. Enrichment through normative combination	299
B. Material decompartmentalization in action	306
§2. The expansion of states' obligations	310
A. Drivers of the expansion of states' obligations: non-discrimination and vulnerability	311
B. The transformative effects of the interaction between drivers	315
1. Convergence	315
2. Dissonant effects	321
Section 2. Growing challenges	326
§1. The challenge from within	326
A. Decompartmentalization under fire	327
1. Challenges within the European Court	327
2. Challenges within the Inter-American Court	332
B. Decompartmentalization under discussion	334
§2. The challenge from conservative NGOs	338
A. The ECLJ	340
B. The Alliance Defending Freedom International	342
Conclusion: The transformation of the Conventions	344

PART III. APPLICATION

6. Persuasive Synergies	351
Introduction	351
Section 1. Constitutional incentives	352
§1. European classicism	353
A. The importance of European integration	353
B. International human rights law comes into its own	355
§2. Originality in Africa and Latin America	358
A. The standing of international human rights law	361
1. The constitutional landscape in the Americas	361
2. The constitutional landscape in Africa	365
B. The function of international human rights law	369
Section 2. Judicial incentives	372
§1. Judicial dialogue	373
A. The drivers of dialogue	373
1. The judicial driver	373
2. The procedural driver	376
B. The results of dialogue	379
1. Impossible conceptualization	380
2. Insurmountable inconsistency	381

§2. Political dialogue	391
A. Civic diplomacy	391
1. Human rights NGOs	392
2. National human rights institutions	400
B. Judicial and academic diplomacy	407
1. Judicial diplomacy	407
2. Academic diplomacy	416
Conclusion: Going beyond the texts	418
7. Synergies of Control	419
Introduction	419
Section 1. Regional control	422
§1. Promoting a synergistic approach	423
A. Global synergy in Europe	424
1. The transfiguration of control	426
2. The judicialization of control	428
B. Partial synergy within the Americas	432
1. The lack of concern on the part of the political body	432
2. The involvement of the human rights bodies	434
§2. The absence of synergistic approaches	437
A. When control is ignored	440
B. When independence is undermined	444
Section 2. National coordination	446
§1. A proven commitment	447
A. Government coordination	447
B. Legislative engineering	453
1. Addressing structural issues	453
2. Control by the executive branch	456
§2. A hoped-for commitment	458
Conclusion: Combining synergies	460
Conclusion: What Does the Future Hold, between the Past and the Present?	463
Section 1. Between the past and the present: 'irreducible sovereignty'	464
Section 2. Back to the future: indispensable vigilance, essential resistance	474
Bibliography	481
Index of Names	519
Index of Topics	531