

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vi
About the authors	vii
Introduction: schooling the imagination	1
1 Reading ethnography, writing ethnography	22
2 Ethnography by design, ethnography by accident	42
3 Into the educational 'field': relationships, reciprocities and responsibilities	59
4 Being, seeing, writing: the role of fieldnotes	77
5 New times, new ethnographies?	94
6 What do I do now? Making ethnographic meaning	114
7 Ethnography that makes a difference	130
8 Writing again: communicating ethnographic insights	145
Conclusion: being an everyday ethnographer	160
Bibliography	171
Index	186