

Table of Contents

	Page
Foreword and Acknowledgments
Translators' note	5
Preface	6
Authors' foreword	7
Acknowledgments	8
Introduction
What are ascomycetes?	9
Systematics of ascomycetes	10
Overview of the region studied floristically	12
System of coordinates	12
Geology, vegetation, and climate of central Switzerland	14
Methods of study
Collecting and forays	15
Sorting, investigation, and identification	15
Microscopy and drawing	15
Photography in the field and the studio	16
Specimen-card file	17
Preparation of herbarium specimens	17
Explanation of technical terms	18
Symbols and abbreviations	21
Identification key	24
Floristic Part
390 ascomycetes, with descriptions, drawings of microscopic characters, and color photographs, numbered from 1-390	43
List of additional ascomycetes identified and deposited in the herbarium	304
Bibliography	305
Index
Latin names of fungi	307

Cover photographs

Front cover: Morchella esculenta var. rigida with a March fly (genus Bibio)
Back cover: Sarcoscypha coccinea

see page 44
see page 122