
Contents

Contributors vii

Foreword xi

PETER FONAGY

Acknowledgements xx

Introduction 1

TRUDIE ROSSOUW, MARIA WIWE, AND IOANNA VROUVA

SECTION I

The concept of 'mentalization' and relevant neurobiological changes in adolescence 9

1 An introduction to mentalizing theory 11

HAIKO JESSURUN

2 Adolescent brain development and the development of mentalizing 25

PATRICK LUYTEN, SASKIA MALCORPS, AND PETER FONAGY

SECTION II

Clinical practice 41

3 MBT technique when working with young people 43

TRUDIE ROSSOUW

4 The structure of therapy 57

TRUDIE ROSSOUW

5 Working with parents and families of adolescents 74

NICOLE MULLER AND HOLLY DWYER HALL

- 6 Varifocal vision in a world of storm and stress. Supervising
MBT-A practice 90
HOLLY DWYER HALL AND MARIA WIWE

SECTION III

Specific applications 105

- 7 Working with adolescents who self-harm 107
MARIA WIWE AND TRUDIE ROSSOUW
- 8 Working with gender diverse young people and their families 123
IOANNA VROUVA, JASON MALDONADO-PAGE, AND NICOLE MULLER
- 9 Conduct disorder – working with externalising behavioural problems in teens and their families 136
SVENJA TAUBNER AND SOPHIE HAUSCHILD
- 10 Working with at-risk mental states in adolescence 151
MARK DANGERFIELD
- 11 MBT-A group therapy with adolescents with emerging personality disorders 166
NICOLE MULLER AND HOLLY DWYER HALL
- 12 AMBIT 181
HAIKO JESSURUN AND DICKON BEVINGTON

- Index 195*