

Contents

List of tables	vii
List of boxes	viii
List of contributors	ix
Preface	xi
1 Evolving hybrid worlds of social work Ingo Bode, Simon Innvær, Dag Jenssen, Wenche Bekken and Ivan Harsløf	1
PART I Contested knowledge – epistemological foundations of hybrid social work
2 The epistemic culture of hybrid social work: insights from organisational settings in Germany and Norway Dag Jenssen, Ingo Bode and Robin Lenz	21
3 Awakening our epistemic consciousness: re-thinking interprofessional health social work Hannah Cootes	44
4 The importance of ‘system knowledge’ among Norwegian social workers in host settings Ivan Harsløf	65
PART II Medicalization and hybrid interventions
5 ‘Not prioritized, but very important’: social work captured in medical and psychological reasoning Wenche Bekken	83
6 Social nursing in Denmark: a specialized response to vulnerability in healthcare Anette Lykke Hindhede, Ingrid Poulsen and Jonas Debesay	102

7	In the absence of social workers at Danish somatic hospitals: the social dimension in the social nurse function	117
	Karin Højbjerg, Emilie Marie Andrés, Christian Ildrup Gadgaard, Carsten Juul Jensen and Heidi Lene Myglegaard Andersen
8	The libra of institutional logics: theorizing hybrid structures in human service organizations in the field of disability	134
	Jens Ineland and Faten Nouf
PART III Interprofessional collaboration
9	Three logics of acculturation on social workers' perceptions of their interprofessional teamwork	156
	Simon Innvær and Henriette Lund Skyberg
10	'You should do what you're good at': boundary work in interprofessional teams	172
	Sylvie van Dam and Peter Raeymaeckers
PART IV The interface with other organizations
11	Complementary roles or multiple idiosyncrasy?: patchwork collaboration in local action against homelessness in Germany	190
	Ingo Bode and Moritz Bachmann
12	Between transaction and hybridization: french human service professionals dealing with multiple logics of action	207
	Philippe Lyet
13	Value conflicts: how US social workers manage the ethics of outsider practice	222
	Corey S. Shdaimah, Lauren P. McCarthy, Rachel Imboden and Patrice Forrester
14	Conclusion to Hybrid Social Work	240
	Ivan Harsløf, Simon Innvær, Dag Jenssen, Wenche Bekken and Ingo Bode
	Index	252