

Contents

Notes on editors and contributors	vi
Acknowledgements	x
Series editors' introduction	xi
Foreword by Raffaella Ferrero Comoletto	xxi
1 Introduction: Themes, issues and chapter synopses Paul Reynolds, Paul Simpson and Trish Hafford Letchfield	1
PART I Cultures of resexualisation
2 Can wrinkles be sexy? Possibilities and constraints for an aesthetic of eroticism in later life Feliciano Villar and Ricardo Iacub	19
3 Older swinging, 'casual' intimacies and sex outside coupledness Eir-Anne Edgar	36
4 Resexualisation of older lesbian and gay subjects in film: an analysis of Cloudburst and Gerontophilia Paul Simpson and Megan Todd	52
5 Resexualisation, later life and kink Paul Reynolds	68
PART II Technologies and practices of resexualisation
6 Pharmaceutical culture and the resexualisation of later life Barbara L. Marshall	93
7 The sexuality of older persons in the digital world Liat Ayalon and Ateret Gewirtz-Meydan	110
8 Older internet dating: ageist prescriptions and novel resexualising Christine Beasley and Mary Holmes	129
9 Resexualisation of older adults through sex care services in Dutch nursing homes Nathalie Huitema and Tineke Roelofs	147
10 Resexualising older disabled people's sexual and intimate lives: an outline, framework and research agenda Susan Gillen and Paul Reynolds	162
11 Final reflections: themes and issues arising from the volume Paul Simpson, Trish Hafford-Letchfield and Paul Reynolds	182
Index	190