

The Naxos logo is located in the top left corner, featuring the word "NAXOS" in white capital letters on a dark blue rectangular background.The front cover illustration is a whimsical, colorful scene. At the top, a white swan with a yellow beak and a small crown flies through a blue sky filled with yellow stars and musical notes. Below the swan, a large white banner with a wavy border contains the text "My First classical Music Album". The banner is held up by a boy on the right, who is wearing a blue suit, a red cape, and a red apple on his head. To his left, a girl in a blue dress and red shoes plays a flute. Further left, a boy in a red shirt and blue shorts plays a drum. A small green, furry creature with a crown and a trumpet is also part of the group. A yellow cat is visible on the far left. The background is a light blue sky with more stars and musical notes, and a green hill at the bottom.
