OF BOB DYLAN

There are those who do not imitate,
Who cannot imitate
But then there are those who emulate
At times, to expand further the light
Of an original glow.
Knowing that to imitate
the living
Is mockery
And to imitate the dead
Is robbery
There are those Who are beings complete unto themselves
Whole, undaunted — a source
As leaves of grass, as stars,

As mountains, alike, alike,
alike,
Yet unlike Each is complete and contained
And as each unlike star shines
Each ray of light is forever
gone
To leave way for a new ray
And a new ray, as from a fountain
Complete unto itself, full, flowing.
So are some souls like stars
And their words, works and songs
Like strong, quick flashes of light

From a brilliant, erupting cone.
So where are your mountains
To match some men?
This man can rhyme the tick
of time
The edge of pain, the what of sane
And comprehend the good in men, the bad in men Can feel the hate of fight,
the love of right
And the creep of blight
at the speed of light
The pain of dawn, the gone
of gone
The end of friend, the end of end

By math of trend
What grip to hold what he is told
How long to hold, how strong to hold
How much to hold of what is told.
And Know
The yield of rend; the break
of bend
The scar of mend I'm proud to say that I know it,
Here-in is a hell of a poet.
And lots of other things
And lots of other things.
