

Table of Contents

Introduction . . . . . 11

Session One: Soviet Cinema

Alexander Batchan:

The "Alienation" of Slava Tsukerman . . . . . 15

Vida T. Johnson

The Films of Andrei Konchalovsky . . . . . 35

DISCUSSION AND RESPONSES . . . . . 45

Session Two: Czech and Hungarian Cinema

George Lellis

A Dissenting View of Milos Forman's Amadeus . . . . . 49

Catherine Portuges

Between Worlds: Re-Placing Hungarian Cinema . . . . . 63

John Twomey

From Eisenstein to Prime Time: the Film and Television
Design Career of Nikolai Soloviov . . . . . 71

DISCUSSION AND RESPONSES . . . . . 79

Session Three: Polish Cinema

Peter G. Christensen

Skolimowski's The Lightship and Conrad . . . . . 85

Paul Coates

Exile and Identity: Kieslowski and His Contemporaries . . 103

Natasa Durovicova

Auditioning for America: Method, Madness and
Banality in Anna . . . . . 115

Slawomir Grunberg
A Polish Filmmaker in the United States . . . . .	125
Patrick MacFadden
Remarks on the Polish Session . . . . .	133
DISCUSSION AND RESPONSES . . . . .	139
Session Four: Yugoslav Cinema
Daniel Goulding
The Films of Dusan Makavejev: Between East and West . .	143
Andrew Horton
Filmmaking in the Middle: From Belgrade to Beverly Hills	157
Gerald Peary
Hollywood in Yugoslavia . . . . .	169
DISCUSSION AND RESPONSES . . . . .	177
Session Five: Soviet Cinema (Andrei Tarkovsky)
Alexandra Heidi Karriker
Patterns of Spirituality in Tarkovsky's Later Films . . . . .	183
Jim Leach
Hideousness and Beauty: a Reading of Tarkovsky's
The Sacrifice . . . . .	203
Anna Makolkina
A Nostalgic Vision of Tarkovsky's Nostalgia . . . . .	215
DISCUSSION AND RESPONSES . . . . .	223
Appendix
Bart Testa
Reflections on Makavejev: the Art Film and Transgression	229
Notes on Participants . . . . .	247