

Acknowledgments xiii*Introduction 1

Virtue theory 3

Of games and gamers 8

Road map 10

Audience, sources, and more! 15

1 Fatality! On violence and gaming 18

The legacy of clown punching 21

That's a spicy meatball 24

Ice cream sales and drownings on the rise 27

But is it violent? 29

Let our powers combine! 31

On Grandma Marie's worries 33

Beyond negative consequences 37

Key points 41

2 The virtuous and vicious gamer 43

Character development in sports and gaming 43

The Ring of Gyges 47

Gatekeeping and tolerance 49

Tryhardedness and appropriateness 52

Rage and chillness 54

Fragility and fortitude 56

	Dishonesty and honesty	57
	Ego and humility	59
	Toxicity and kindness	61
	Immoderation and moderation	63
	Putting it all together	65
	Key points	66
3	Raiding, virtue, and best buds	68
	The loner stereotype	70
	Aristotelian friendship IRL	73
	Different types of friendships	76
	Gaming friendships as friendships of pleasure and use	82
	Sustaining friendships through gaming	85
	The final boss: virtual virtue friendships	87
	The advantages of gaming friendship	92
	Key points	94
	4 Hooked on gaming	96
	Gaming addiction: legitimate disorder or epistemic dumpster fire?	98
	How shall I compare thee?	101
	Addiction or problems in living?	106
	I am still just a rat in a cage	111
	This is your brain on video games	117
	Problematic gaming	121
	Key points	122
5	Gaming your way out of the cave: the intellectual and aesthetic side of gaming	124
	What makes an activity worth doing?	127
	History's most famous manchild	130

The cave and the good life	134
Are gamers cave-dwellers?	138
Contemplation, fiction, and interactivity	140
The aesthetics of gameplay	146
Gaming out of the cave	151
Key points	152

6 The life well-played 153

All play and no work makes you die
in the winter	155
When in Utopia, do as Grasshopper does	158
Utopian gameplaying woes and whimsies	160
Playing man blues	163
Winter is coming	166
The great-souled gamer	170
When gaming becomes work	172
Living the good life as asshoppers	176
Key points	179

Notes 181

References 194

Index 205