PART I. WHY WE SHOULD RETHINK METAPHYSICS

1. The Traditional Conception of Metaphysics	3
1.1 Problems for the Traditional Conception	4
1.2 A Very Brief History	11
1.3 A Diagnosis and Cure	14
2. The Explanatory Conception of Metaphysics	20
2.1 Problems for the Explanatory Conception	24
2.2 Why Some Terms Don't Add Explanatory Power	30
2.3 Other Functional Roles	39
2.4 Diagnosing the Underlying Mistake	45
3. The Structural Conception of Metaphysics	49
3.1 Problems for the Structural Conception	53
3.2 The Underlying Problem: Functional Monism	56
4. The Truthmaker Conception of Metaphysics	60
4.1 Truthmakers as a Guide to What's Fundamental	62
4.2 Truthmakers as a Constraint	65
5. Fundamentality and Grounding Projects	73
5.1 Grounding: The Basic Idea	75
5.2 Troubles for the Fundamentality Project	80
5.3 Troubles for the Layered Picture	82
5.4 Looking for Local Grounding Relations	85
5.4.1 Clarifying the Epistemology	89
5.4.2 The Problem of Generality	92
5.5 Conclusions	97

PART II. HOW WE SHOULD RETHINK METAPHYSICS

6. Metaphysics as Conceptual Engineering	103
6.1 What Can Philosophy Do?	104
6.2 A Brief History of Philosophy as Conceptual Engineering	107
6.3 What Is Conceptual Engineering?	112
6.4 Avoiding the Problems of the Traditional Conception	118
6.4.1 Rivalry with the Sciences	118
6.4.2 Proliferation and Skepticism	120
6.4.3 Epistemological Mystery	121
6.5 Should We Engineer Concepts or Language?	123
6.6 The Work to Be Done	130
7. Identifying Linguistic Functions	132
7.1 How (Not) to Think About Function	134
7.2 Systemic Functional Linguistics	139
7.2.1 Functions in Developmentally Early Language	141
7.2.2 Functions in Mature Language	144
7.3 Ideational Functions	149
7.4 Interpersonal Functions	151
7.5 Grammatical Metaphors	153
7.6 Conclusions	159
8. Reverse Engineering: Unraveling Metaphysical Problems	163
8.1 Reassessing Metaphysical Criteria	166
8.2 Re-Evaluating Metaphysical Debates About Abstracta	168
8.3 Re-Evaluating Metaphysical Debates About Modality	175
8.3.1 Are There Modal Properties, Facts, or Possible Worlds?	186
8.3.2 How Are Modal Properties Related to Non-Modal Properties?	189
8.3.3 How Could We Come to Know About Modality?	190
8.4 Re-Evaluating Other Metaphysical Debates	193
8.5 Redirecting Metaphysics to More Fruitful Pursuits	198
9. Pragmatic Conceptual Engineering	202
9.1 Reverse Engineering via Assessing Functions	203
9.2 Making Decisions in Pragmatic Conceptual Engineering	209

9.2.1 Revisions When We Reject the Functions	210
9.2.2 Revisions Prompted by Technological or Social Change	213
9.2.3 Revisions as Concerns Evolve	216
9.3 The Role of Site Constraints and Human Factors	217
9.4 Conclusions	220
10. The Perennial Philosophical Project	222
10.1 Should We Still Call It “Metaphysics”?	223
10.2 What Should We Do?	227
10.3 The Perennial Project	232
10.4 Conclusion	234
