

Contents

List of tables	vii
List of contributors	viii
Acknowledgements	xii
1 The case for comparative reproduction policy research Hannah Zagel	1
PART I COMPARING WITHIN AND ACROSS BORDERS
2 Exporting the American playbook: the international reach of the US anti-abortion movement Tania Penovic	19
3 The diffusion of knowledge responsibility: polity insights into the regulation of sexuality education across the German states Anna E. Kluge	35
PART II CROSS-COUNTRY COMPARISON
4 Asian family planning programmes and the construction of fertility preferences Stuart Gietel-Basten	53
5 Sexuality education from an international perspective Olena Ivanova, Elizabeth Kemigisha, Mariana Cruz Murueta and Rayan Korri	68
6 Variants of abortion exceptionalism: mapping adherence to healthcare standards in high-income countries Catherine Conlon	86
PART III CROSS-POLICY COMPARISON
7 The reciprocal relationship between public attitudes and reproduction policy: an agenda for an uncharted research field Rohan Khan	103

8	A comparative analysis across reproduction policy fields in Hungary Ivett Szalma and Alexandra Sipos	119
9	A world of contradictions: biopolitics and the post-1989 reproduction policies in Poland Monika Ewa Kaminska	136
PART IV POLICY INTERACTIONS
10	The regulatory environment of multifetal pregnancy reduction: a comparative case study of Italy and Japan Mio Tamakoshi	153
11	Comparing surrogacy regulation in the UK and California Zaina Mahmoud	167
12	Discussion: reproduction policy in the twenty-first century Hannah Zagel and Rene Almeling	183
	Index	194