

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction Luis J. Pedrazuela	1
PART I: THREE SOURCES OF INFLUENCE: ART, RELIGION, AND PHILOSOPHY	25
Chapter One: From the Inexistent to the Concrete: Kojève after Kandinsky Isabel Jacobs	27
Chapter Two: Between Kant and Hegel: Alexandre Kojève and the Absolute State Jeff Love	53
Chapter Three: Kojève and Christianity José María Carabante	75
Chapter Four: History and Nothingness: Kojève's Re-Leveraging of Hegel's Dialectic of Freedom Waller R. Newell	93
Chapter Five: Kojève and Marx: Elusive Affinities and Divergences Igor Shoikhedbrod	103
Chapter Six: Alexandre Kojève and Carl Schmitt: Mythologies of Enmity Massimo Palma	121

PART II: ACTION/REVOLUTION—END OF HISTORY/ WISDOM: THE CONCEPT TOWARD CONCRETION	139
Chapter Seven: Wisdom, Self-Consciousness, and Empire Alexei Rutkevich	141
Chapter Eight: Tyranny or Wisdom?: A Reading of the Strauss— Kojève Debate José Daniel Parra	161
PART III: THREE CONCRETE KOJÈVEAN OUTCOMES AND THEIR LIKELIHOOD: AUTHORITY, THE MIRROR STAGE, AND GLOBAL TRADE	181
Chapter Nine: Authority and Legitimacy in Alexandre Kojève's The Notion of Authority Bryan-Paul Frost	183
Chapter Ten: The Specular Philosopher: Alexandre Kojève and Jacques Lacan Trevor Wilson	209
Chapter Eleven: Alexandre Kojève's Economic Undertakings Luis J. Pedrazuela	225
Index	241
About the Contributors	249