

CONTENTS

|                                                                                              |    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| List of Contributors                                                                  | xi |
| IntroductionScott Aikin and Robert B. Talisse                                     | 1  |
| PART I                                                                                |    |
| Pragmatism's History and Figures                                                      | 5  |
| 1 The Metaphysical ClubCheryl Misak                                               | 7  |
| 2 C.S. Peirce's PragmatismAlbert Atkin                                            | 13 |
| 3 William JamesAlexander Klein                                                    | 19 |
| 4 John DeweyDavid L. Hildebrand                                                   | 26 |
| 5 Jane AddamsNúria Sara Miras Boronat                                             | 35 |
| 6 Alain Locke's Critical Pragmatism as Applied to Race and CultureCorey L. Barnes | 41 |
| 7 Sidney HookRobert B. Talisse                                                    | 47 |

Contents

|                                         |                                                                                                          |            |
|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 8                                       | C.I. Lewis between Classical and Contemporary PragmatismPeter Olen                            | 53         |
| 9                                       | Quine and American PragmatismYemima Ben-Menahem                                               | 58         |
| 10                                      | Wilfrid Sellars and PragmatismWillem A. deVries                                               | 63         |
| 11                                      | Richard Rorty: Narrative as Anti-Authoritarian Therapy and as Cultural PoliticsSusan Dieleman | 70         |
| 12                                      | Hilary PutnamMaria Baghramian and Matthew Shields                                             | 75         |
| 13                                      | Cornel West and Prophetic PragmatismEduardo Mendieta                                          | 81         |
| 14                                      | Susan Haack and Worldly, Realist PragmatismRobert Lane                                        | 89         |
| 15                                      | Nicholas Rescher's Methodological PragmatismMichele Marsonet                                  | 95         |
| 16                                      | Robert BrandomChauncey Maher                                                                  | 101        |
| PART II                          |                                                                                                          |            |
| Pragmatism and Plural Traditions |                                                                                                          | 107 |
| 17                                      | Pragmatism's Family FeudHenry Jackman                                                         | 109        |
| 18                                      | One Hundred Years of Pragmatism at HarvardDouglas McDermid                                    | 118        |
| 19                                      | Pragmatism in Britain and Italy in the Early 20th CenturyGabriele Gava and Tullio Viola       | 128        |
| 20                                      | Pragmatism and Analytic PhilosophyHenrik Rydenfelt                                            | 138        |
| 21                                      | Pragmatism and Continental PhilosophyPaul Giladi                                              | 147        |

Contents

|                 |                                                                                       |            |
|-----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 22              | Prospects for “Big-Tent” Pragmatic PhenomenologyJ. Aaron Simmons           | 159        |
| 23              | Pragmatism and Its ProspectsMichael Bacon                                  | 168        |
| PART III |                                                                                       |            |
|                 | Pragmatism’s Reach                                                             | 177 |
| 24              | Pragmatism and LogicF. Thomas Burke                                        | 179        |
| 25              | Pragmatism and MetaphysicsClaudine Tiercelin                               | 191        |
| 26              | Peirce, James, and Dewey as Philosophers of ScienceJeff Kasser             | 206        |
| 27              | Pragmatism and LanguageDavid Boersema                                      | 217        |
| 28              | Pragmatism in the Philosophy of MindAaron Zimmerman                        | 226        |
| 29              | Pragmatism and Cognitive ScienceShaun Gallagher                            | 239        |
| 30              | Knowledge-PracticalismStephen Hetherington                                 | 252        |
| 31              | Pragmatism and ReligionSami Pihlström                                      | 264        |
| 32              | Pragmatism and the Moral LifeDiana B. Heney                                | 276        |
| 33              | Artworld Practice, Aesthetic Properties, Pragmatist StrategiesRobert Kraut | 287        |
| 34              | Pragmatism and Political PhilosophyMatthew Festenstein                     | 300        |
| 35              | Pragmatism and MetaphilosophyScott Aikin                                   | 311        |

PART IV

Pragmatism's Relevance

321

36 Pragmatism and Philosophical Methods

323

Andrew Howat

37 Pragmatism and Expressivism

331

David Macarthur

38 Pragmatism and Naturalism

343

James R. O'Shea

39 Pragmatist Theories of Truth

351

Cornelis de Waal

40 Pragmatism and Insurrectionist Philosophy

358

Lee A. McBride III

41 Latin American Philosophy, U.S. Latinx Philosophy, and Anglo-American Pragmatism

366

Denise Meda Calderon and Andrea J. Pitts

42 Pragmatism and Race

375

Jacoby Adeshei Carter

43 Meaning and Inquiry in Feminist Pragmatist Narrative

380

Shannon Dea

44 Pragmatism and Environmental Philosophy

387

Evelyn Brister

Index

395