

Content
1. Introduction	8
2. Anthropomorphic statuette from the period of the Linear Pottery Culture from Chabařovice, Ústí nad Labem District (Northwest Bohemia) and its finding and natural environments	10
2.1. Finding and natural environments (M. Lička, Z. Vařilová)	11
2.2. Materials: finds from settlement Feature 40	13
2.2.1. Anthropomorphic statuette (M. Lička, L. Véllová)	13
2.2.2. Pottery	17
2.2.2.1. Mineralogical and petrological analysis of ceramic samples (M. Gregerová)	22
2.2.2.1.1. Comments on the ceramic analysis results (M. Lička, Z. Mach)	50
2.2.3. Construction clay (clay daub)	51
2.2.4. Rock for making dye (Z. Vařilová)	51
2.2.5. Macrolithic industry (M. Lička, B. Šreinová, Z. Vařilová)	51
2.2.6. Chipped stone industry (J. Eigner)	53
2.2.6.1. Comments on the chipped stone industry of the Early LPC	57
2.2.7. Archaeozoological finds (L. Kovačiková)	59
2.2.8. Radiocarbon dating (I. Světlík, J. Eigner)	61
3. Anthropomorphic statuettes of the Linear and Stroked Pottery Cultures from Bohemia and Moravia and the issue of their fragmentation	64
3.1. Introduction to the issue	65
3.2. Description, Analysis, Evaluation	66
3.2.1. Description of individual statuettes (M. Lička, L. Véllová, Z. Mach, P. Proks, J. Souček)	68
3.2.2. General characteristics	90
3.2.3. State of preservation (M. Lička, L. Véllová)	93
3.2.4. Interpretation of the results of the tomographic analysis	94
3.2.4.1. The technology of making statuettes (M. Lička, Z. Mach)	94
3.2.4.2. Cracks/clefts and their relationship to the fragmentation of statuettes (M. Lička, Z. Mach)	95
3.2.4.3. Unusual interventions of a cultic significance?	96
4. Conclusion and discussion	97
Excursus 1 – Comparative assemblage of finds from Kolín (M. Lička, J. Eigner)	101
Excursus 2 – Assemblage of finds from Feature 42/1947 from Vočov, Pilsen-North District (M. Lička, J. Eigner, L. Kovačiková)	105
References	114
Acknowledgement	120
Authors	121
Resumé (česky)	125