

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Preface	xii

PART I GLOBAL ENERGY TURBULENCE

1	Energy turbulence: between politics and markets Dag Harald Claes	2
2	Empire and anti-empire: geopolitical turbulence, resentment, and energy crises Roland Dannreuther and Wojciech Ostrowski	21
3	Oil and war: why decarbonization won't produce peace Emily Meierding	40

PART II KEY ACTORS' ENERGY POLICY IN TURBULENT TIMES

4	The Russian gas sector: from creating chaos to searching for security James Henderson	59
5	Energy politics in a turbulent era: the case of China Philip Andrews-Speed	81
6	US energy policy in an era of polarisation and global shocks Cordelia Buchanan Ponczek	99
7	OPEC and OPEC+ in the global energy turbulence Giuliano Garavini and Rafael Ramírez	121

PART III EUROPEAN ENERGY TURBULENCE

8	European reactions to energy crises: between companies' flexibility and political constraints Francesca Batzella, Elisabetta Bini and Marta Musso	143
---	--	-----

9	Europe's new interventionism: punctuated equilibrium and EU energy policy change Andreas C. Goldthau and Nick Sitter	165
10	EU–Russia energy relations Marco Siddi	185
PART IV ENERGY TURBULENCE IN NON-FOSSIL SECTORS
11	Yet another hope for nuclear energy? Matěj Hrubý and Jan Osička	204
12	Renewable energy and the turbulence of the global energy system Oluf Langhelle, Thomas M. Sattich and Benjamin R. Silvester	225
	Index	247