

Contents

Artificial Intelligence, Warfare, and the Surveillance/Information State

Shannon A. Bowen (Ed.)

Journal of International Communication Studies, Volume 14, Number 1, 2022
DOI: 10.1080/15393101.2022.2081234

1	Artificial Intelligence, Warfare, and the Surveillance/Information State	1
	Shannon A. Bowen
2	AI Transformation in Media: Reshaping War Between Reality and Virtuality.	17
	Fatima Roumate
3	Communication Dimensions in Mitigating the Global Security Threats of Malicious AI/Artificial Intelligence.	29
	Marta N. Lukacovic and Deborah D. Sellnow-Richmond
4	Digital Imperialism: Neurosymbolic Artificial Intelligence, International Security, Information Flows, and Social Media in the Twenty-First Century.	35
	Carlos Enrique Fernandez-Garcia, Samantha Gómez Gamboa, and Piero García Castillo
5	Behind the Screen: Exploring the Influence of Artificial Intelligence on Established Media and Its Implications for International Security.	59
	Ouiam Chafik and Oualid Rais
6	Media Diplomacy in the Age of AI: Transformative Potential and Ethical Challenges	83
	Said Hajji
7	AI and Transnational Data Flows: Challenges and Imperatives of Sovereignty	103
	Ahmed Hafidi
8	Artificial Intelligence on Journalism: Limits and Risks	113
	Hassan Benouaachane
9	Artificial Intelligence and Media Communications in Russia	135
	Sergey Davydov, Maria Krasheninnikova, Maria Lukina, and Andrey Zamkov	