

Contents

Preface	xi
Introduction	1
Chapter I Green Civil Codes	4
1. Overview of Key Issues on the Environment in the Old Civil Code's Models	4
2. The Progressive Greening of Civil Law Between Europe, Asia and Latin America	9
3. New Lemmas and New Lexicon for Civil Codes	17
Chapter II Stopping the Consumer Machine and Listening to the Nature's Voice	22
1. Sustainable Consumption as Part of Sustainable Development	22
2. Protection of Natural Resources as a Limit to Economic Development: Latouche v. Daly	28
3. Private Law and Common Goods: What Are Civil Codes' Responses to the Environment?	32
4. Comparative Political Efforts to Limit the Dark Side of Consumption	37
5. Making Informed Environmental Choices: The Climatarian Consumer	41
6. Balancing Ethical Values Through Civil Codes	49
Chapter III The New Round for the Environment Through Civil Codes	56
1. Global Pushes to Involve People in Preserving the Environment	56
2. Where Civil Codes Intersect With Constitutional Purposes	61

x Contents

3. Consumo Sustentable and the Ecological Turn of the Argentine Civil Code 70
4. Lüse Yuanze as the Super Green Principle of the New Chinese Civil Code 74
5. The Convivencia Ecológica According to the Draft of New Colombian Civil Code 82
6. Civil Codes and Anthropocene: Looking for a New Biocultural-Based Approach? 87

Chapter IV Nature as Grundnorm 93

1. Nature's Rights and the Andean Approach 93
2. Buen Vivir as a Legal Norm 99
3. New Zealand's Whanganui River as a Legal Person 102
4. A New Paradigm for Humans' Private Ecological Overtures 106
5. Private Law Yardsticks in the Courts' Environmental Sensitivity 111
6. Ecosophy: Looking for a Deep Ecological Civil Law 118

Conclusions 124

Author Index 129

Subject Index 134