

CONTENTS

Foreword xiii

Introduction 1

PART ONE

An introduction to sustainability

- 1 Getting ready for the journey 5
 - Welcome to the Anthropocene 5
 - Marketing's relationship with sustainability 6
 - Orientation 6
 - Stepping outside of the marketing bubble 7
 - Primed for action 17
 - Reflection 17
 - References and further reading 18

- 2 An introduction to sustainability 19
 - Defining sustainability 19
 - Why sustainability? 20
 - Time for some solutions 27
 - Reflection 30
 - References and further reading 31

- 3 Deciphering the world of sustainability 39
 - Jargon busting 39
 - Global North/South divide 39
 - Carbon 40
 - Diversity, equity and inclusion (DE&I) 51
 - Biodiversity 53
 - Mobilizing to respond 55
 - Making personal changes 57
 - Reflection 60
 - References and further reading 61

4 Marketing and the environmentalist movement 64

Marketing's silent spring 64

Reflection 76

References and further reading 77

PART TWOThe role of marketing*5 The Great Acceleration and the golden era of marketing 83

The Great Acceleration 83

The golden era of marketing 84

The catalyst of the Great Acceleration 86

The great transformation 88

Unfit for purpose 89

Reflection 91

References and further reading 91

6 The sustainable impacts of marketing 95

Where we sit today 95

Looking through the sustainability lens 96

Reflection 116

References and further reading 117

7 The role of marketing – the 'engine of growth'? 127

Identity crisis 127

Economics and the rational person 130

Opposites (should) attract 130

Duty of care versus growth at all costs 136

Reflection 139

References and further reading 139

8 The mindset of marketing 142

Team make-up 142

One per cent is good, volume is better 144

Effectiveness by choice 145

Results oriented 146

- Customer is everything 147
 - Growth by name, growth by nature 148
 - Hyperspecialization 149
 - Desire to change 149
 - Reflection 150
 - References and further reading 151
- 9 The current state of marketing 153
- A perspective on marketing 153
 - The goal of marketing 154
 - The marketing machine 155
 - Creative tramlines 156
 - Everything louder than everything else 157
 - A dangerous and sinister dark side 158
 - The modern marketer 159
 - The brain drain 159
 - Greenwashing the greenwashers 161
 - Reflection 162
 - References and further reading 163
- 10 The need for a new role for marketing 166
- A situation recap 166
 - A new conquest 166
 - The new role for marketing 174
 - Reflection 178
 - References and further reading 179
- PART THREE
- The tools for sustainable marketing
- 11 The origins, objectives and introduction to the Sustainable Marketing Compass 183
- The origins 183
 - Objectives 184
 - An introduction to the Sustainable Marketing Compass 186
 - Reflection 189

12 Embedding sustainability at the heart 190

The why 190

Desired outcome 191

Choosing a framework 192

Embedding corporate sustainability focus 193

Putting it into practice 194

Reflection 202

Reference 202

13 Strategic foundations 203

The need for strategy 203

Redefined success 204

Rethink value 210

Real people 215

Efficacy and governance 225

Reflection 233

References and further reading 233

14 Activation pillars 237

Purpose 237

Partnerships 241

Participation 245

Performance 250

Reflection 255

References and further reading 255

PART FOURBuilding sustainable marketing capability*15 The sustainable data universe 259

The hornet's nest 259

Reflection 268

References and further reading 268

16 Capability development and the parallels to digital transformation 271

Learning from the digital transformation of marketing 271

Transformation squared 273

Capability first 273

The pillars of sustainable marketing capability 274

Sustainable marketing maturity modelling 277

Stages of maturity 278

The sustainable marketing capability maturity matrix 282

Reflection 285

References and further reading 285

17 Your personal resilience journey 288

Three challenges 289

Learning from experience 290

Building resilience at work 296

Reflection 298

References 298

18 Call to action 299

Reference 300

Index 301