

Content

INTRODUCTION.....	5
1 COMPARISON OF EVALUATION MODELS.....	7
1.1 Kirkpatrick's Model	8
1.2 Modifications of Kirkpatrick's Model.....	11
1.2.1 Five-level Training Evaluation Model.....	11
1.2.2 Five-level ROI Framework	12
1.2.3 Organisational Elements Model (OEM Model).....	14
1.2.4 The KPMT Model of Added Value	15
1.2.5 CIRO Model.....	16
1.2.6 Comparison of the Modified Models of Training Evaluation.....	17
1.3 Alternative models	18
1.3.1 Responsive Evaluation.....	18
1.3.2 CIPP Evaluation Model.....	19
1.3.3 Purposes of Evaluation.....	21
1.3.4 Models Using Different Measures	22
2 RESULTS OF THE RESEARCH ON THE TRAINING EVALUATION	25
2.1 Aim and Methodology	25
2.2 Results – Training Concepts and their Relation to Training Evaluation	27
2.2.1 Training Concepts in Relation to Training Costs	30
2.2.2 Training Concepts in Relation to Benefits	32
2.2.3 Training Concepts in Relation to ROI.....	33
2.2.4 Levels of Training Evaluation in Relation to Training Costs and Number of Training Hours.....	35
2.3 Conclusion	37

3 RESEARCH OF APPLICATION OF TRAINING EVALUATION MODELS	39
3.1 Return on Training Investment – Specifics.....	39
3.1.1 Calculation of ROI	39
3.1.2 Case study: ROI Calculation for Training Programmes	45
3.2 Implementation of Training Evaluation in Logistics Company – Benefits, Costs and Potential Risks	48
3.2.1 Proposal of the Training Evaluation Model	49
3.2.2 Implementation of the Training Evaluation Model.....	52
3.3 Training Evaluation in Manufacturing Companies	57
3.4 Application of the BSC Method for Employee Training in the Construction Company (Case Study).....	59
3.4.1 Employee Training in the Company	61
3.4.2 Design of Training System Using the BSC Method	64
3.5 Training Evaluation Model in Retail Chains (Case Study)	78
3.5.1 Description of the Training in a Retail Chain.....	79
3.5.2 Training Evaluation Model for Shop Assistants	81
3.5.3 ROI for the Training of Shop Assistants	83
CONCLUSION	90
REFERENCES.....	93
LIST OF TABLES	99
LIST OF FIGURES AND GRAPHS.....	101