

CONTENTS

List of figures and tables xii

About the author xiii

Acknowledgements xiv

01 Industry 5.0: Rewiring business for continuous relevance and differentiation 1

AI as a strategic advantage: A transformation of marketing and sales 1

The shift to Generative AI 3

Impact of AI on certain business sectors 4

AI as a strategic imperative: BCG's Deploy, Reshape, and Invent framework 6

AI in sales and lead optimization 8

Key challenges to AI implementation 11

The evolution of B2B sales: From transactions to AI-augmented selling 12

Zendesk and Generative AI 13

From AI 1.0 to AI 2.0: Beyond automation to augmentation 15

AI and PR: The bridge between innovation and trust 18

The rise of AI operating systems in marketing and CX 28

AI in demand forecasting and market sensing 29

The AI trust dividend: Transparency as differentiation 30

Conclusion: AI as a strategic imperative for future business growth 32

Endnotes 35

02 Start with the problem: Strategic marketing to satisfy evolving customer/client needs profitably 36

Amazon and AI: A strategic marketing case study 37

Agentic AI in action: New frontiers across brands 41

Predictive content supply chains: Marketing's next competitive edge 43

Retail media networks and generative campaign orchestration 44

Retail media networks go global: The next phase of commerce orchestration 45

Blueprint for composable marketing systems 46

Expert spotlight: Sarah McVittie, co-founder at Dressipi – why data, domain expertise, and cross-functional ownership define fashion's AI advantage 47

AI-augmented talent and CX teams 51

Proactive engagement and demand sensing 52

AI-driven loyalty and retention strategies 53

AI in action: Emerging innovations and global momentum 61

From customer experience to employee experience 62

Closing reflections: AI as a strategic marketing imperative 64

Further reading 68

Endnotes 69

03 The marketer's guide to game-changing AI that reshapes product and service delivery, plus the use of everyday AI 72

The era of intelligent delivery has arrived 72

Operationalizing AI – from software development to service-as-software 73

AI and the sustainability imperative 79

Real-world momentum: AI in action across industries 82

LinkedIn: How AI is transforming work, marketing, and sales 85

AI-powered feedback loops and living product design 91

Keeping purpose at the centre 96

Conclusion: Looking ahead – from co-pilot to co-creator 98

Endnotes 100

04 AI and hyper-personalization: Striking a balance of customization and privacy 103

The rise of the AI-first customer experience 103

The age of individualization 104

Personalization reimaged: From experience to emotion 104

Zero UI: When personalization becomes invisible 106

The AI concierge: Personalization as a service layer 107

Multimodal personalization: Beyond text and voice 108

GenAI: Supercharging sales, marketing and CX 110

- AI-first personalization meets the circular economy 113
- Synthetic personas: Testing without tracking 116
- Inclusive by design: AI and the neurodiverse customer 117
- Personalized video messaging: Storytelling that speaks to you 118
- Generative personalization: Storytelling at scale 119
- The ethical tightrope: Privacy in the personalization era 120
- Hyper-personalization in action 122
- The decline of cookies and the rise of first-party data 124
- Real-time AI decisioning in CX and e-commerce 125
- The AI-driven loyalty loop 125
- Future frontiers: Hyper-personalization and the metaverse 129
- The human algorithm 129
- Final reflections: Personalization as partnership 130
- Endnotes 132

- 05 How marketing professionals must protect clients/ customers and the brand 137
  - The evolving risk landscape: What marketers need to know 140
  - Privacy risks from agentic AI 142
  - Data quality and model failure 146
  - Real-world legal risks: Lessons already emerging 147
  - AI ethics is not just for giants – why B2B and SME marketers must pay attention 150
  - Five red flags that should pause your AI campaign 155
  - Responsible AI vendor management: New rules for marketers 156
  - What is keeping CMOs awake at night in 2025? 158
  - AI ethics for smaller brands 159
  - Conclusion: From compliance to culture 163
  - Endnotes 165

- 06 AI – the great global disruptor: AI’s impact across the full spectrum of product/service adaptation, and within the sales and marketing funnel 169
  - Strategic deepening: AI as the new architecture of customer relationships 169
  - The AI-enabled value exchange: Earning data through experience 172
  - Generative AI in B2B sales: From personalized pitches to predictive precision 175

AI as the invisible hand of modern commerce	178
AI redefining customer experience in banking	180
AI-washing: From marketing hype to compliance risk	182
The AI Funnel Health Index: A new metric for modern CMOs	183
BCG on the golden era of AI agents in customer experience	188
The green + AI imperative: How marketing must evolve	189
Emerging roles in the AI-centric marketing organization	190
Designing for the agent: What makes a brand agent-ready?	193
Agent-centric marketing: Designing for the machine, not the human	193
Future gazing – Scenarios for 2030	197
Conclusion: Orchestrating growth in the age of AI-first customers	200
Endnotes	201

07 AI necessitates smart human resources: HR's pivotal role in reskilling marketing, sales and other departments 204

AI, talent and trust in the enterprise	205
Navigating the AI HR tool landscape	213
2026 and beyond – What HR must track next	216
The psychology of AI at work	224
The AI-ready organization: A cultural and ethical playbook	227
Building AI literacy across marketing, sales, and CX teams	231
AI for DEI 2.0: New frontiers, new risks	232
Conclusion: Designing the future of work from the inside out	235
Endnotes	237

08 Human and AI collaboration: Fostering creativity, critical thinking and innovation 239

AI is transforming customer experience (CX)	240
What's next for AI in marketing?	241
Case study: How Mediahawk uses AI to enhance customer insights	242
Powtoon: AI-powered video creation for business and learning	245
AI's expanding role in creativity and marketing	246
The future of AI: Balancing innovation with ethical responsibility	248
Spotlight on India: AI's rapid growth in sales and marketing	250

Agentic AI: The next frontier in sales, marketing and business automation 253

AI-driven marketing and sales: A new era of automation and personalization 255

Kickstarting AI adoption: Closing the gap between leaders and laggards 257

AI readiness: A roadmap to AI-driven success 260

AI playbook for teams: A strategic guide 267

Conclusion 274

Endnotes 276

09 Harnessing AI ethically for societal value and economic advantage 277

Balancing AI regulation and innovation: Insights from Boston Consulting Group 277

Bridging innovation and regulation: The global AI policy divide 279

AI and business performance: The competitive edge 283

Beyond regulation: The existential question of AI's impact on society 288

AI ethics and marketing 292

The global AI landscape: Data, compliance and control 294

AI and the future of personalization in marketing and CX 299

Trust in an evolving AI landscape 304

Conclusion: Future-proofing trust in an evolving AI landscape 306

Endnotes 308

Index 309