
Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Preface	x
A Brief Introduction	1
The Outline of the Book	2
The Book's Structure: A Sonata	3
Lacan on His Own Work	3
A Note on Typography	6
EXPOSITION
Alice's Adventures in Lacan-Land	9
Exposition: Alice's Adventures in Lacan-Land	11
Preface to Alice's Adventures	11
Adventure I: Down the Rabbit-Hole	13
Adventure II: Who Am I?	18
Adventure III: Where Things Have No Names	21
Adventure IV: Discourse	29
Adventure V: Desire	34
Adventure VI: Advice from a Caterpillar: Tu es cela!	40
FIRST DEVELOPMENT
Language	45
1 Psychoanalysis's Uncharted Territory	47
1.1 Signified and Signifier Explained	47
1.2 Signification Through Differential Relations	49

2	Language, Language, Everywhere: The Demarcation Problem	52
2.1	Language as One Continuous Ribbon	54
2.2	Language and Its Discontents	66
3	Existential Implications	80
3.1	Language as an Existential Phenomenon	80
3.2	Idle Talk, Curiosity, and Ambiguity	82
3.3	Thrownness	93
<hr/>
	SECOND DEVELOPMENT
	The Self	97
4	The Self: Language's Most Important Product	99
4.1	Langue and Parole	100
4.2	Who Am I, Really?	101
5	The Mirror Stage	106
5.1	The Self and the Mirror Stage: The Vedic Account	107
5.2	The Self and the Mirror Stage: Lacan's Account	110
5.3	The Vedic and Lacanian Accounts Compared	125
	RECAPITULATION
	Implications for the Individual and Society	129
6	Beyond Speech	131
6.1	Democratisation of Psychoanalysis	132
6.2	The Subject Supposed to Know	133
6.3	Recognition	144
6.4	The End of Analysis	146
7	Art as Salvation: A Quick Dive into Contemporary Issues	148
7.1	Philosophy and Politics	149
7.2	Works of Art	152
	Notes	156
	References	168
	Index	173