

CONTENTS

Notes on contributors	viii
List of figures	xiv
List of tables	xvii
List of audiovisuals	xviii
1 Music, autoethnography, and reflexivity: An introductory conversation Peter Gouzouasis and Christopher Wiley	1
PART I
Instrumental performance	19
2 Experiencing the Karnatic violin: Knowing in the hands Alice Barron	21
3 Performing intercultural music for flute and electronics: Reflections on heterotopian (s)p(l)ace Jean Penny	37
4 A conductor's autoethnography of interpretive process Bede Williams	57

PART II

Vocal performance	71
5 An autoethnographic approach to understanding early vocal recordings and late 19th-century singing treatises Barbara Gentili	73
6 An autoethnography of performance in the vocal booth Rod Davies	88
7 Semi-staging Written On Skin : An experiment in the “doubleness” of lived experience and unfolding performative invention Benjamin Davis	106
8 A cautionary tale of the health and well-being of college music students Matthew Yanko	122

PART III

Composition and creative practice	135
9 Notes to self: How composers write about their music Martin Scheuregger and Christopher Leedham	137
10 The “self” particle: A time traveler’s account of how one doctorate in music composition would have benefited from a better awareness of autoethnography Bartosz Szafranski	161
11 A performative autoethnography of the oratorios I Believe and Nostos : Composing music, words, and worlds Zane Zalis	185

PART IV

Pedagogy	207
12 How did we learn to create this performance? A tutor models student reflective practice Monica Esslin-Peard	209
13 An autoethnography of designing an undergraduate music module on Adele’s 25 album Christopher Wiley	226

14	“Mind the gaps”: Exploring models for positioning the researcher in doctorates in music performance Sarah Callis and Neil Heyde	242
15	A piano mismatch: Passion, dreams, and being a “good boy” David Lines	259
PART V
	Cultural and contextual music studies	269
16	Jammin’ “under one groove”: An autoethnographic steelband love story Charissa Granger	271
17	An autoethnographic approach to linking performance, practice research, and historical research Verica Grmuša	289
18	Thumbprints on the paintwork: On autoethnography and fandom in the music of Mark E. Smith and The Fall Iain Findlay-Walsh	305
19	1000 Days Project: An a/r/tographic inquiry of hospital music-making Rosalind Hawley	323
PART VI
	Art as autoethnography	343
20	Advocating a folkloristic disposition in the context of music pedagogy Simon E. Poole	345
21	Twilight Benjamin Bolden	349
PART VII
	Coda: Future considerations	359
22	Autoethnography: A reflexive research process Peter Gouzouasis	361
	Index	378