

Content

Instead of Introduction	9
PART I: The WINNER mindset and the art to succeed.....	11
Chapter 1. Business and the Essential Conditions to Succeed..	13
Chapter 2. The Marketing State of Mind.....	21
Chapter 3. The Client and Client Typology. Organising the meetings with the client	27
3.1 The Client and his typology.....	27
3.2 How to conduct the meeting with the client.....	30
3.3 Behaviour with a group	32
Chapter 4. The Art to Succeed	41
4.1 The conceptual framework and the environment of success	42
4.2 The winner's psychological potential.....	47
4.3 Mental success strategies.....	51
PART II: Skills and techniques for influence the interlocutor....	61
Chapter 5. Applications of Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP) to Interpersonal Communication (IC).....	63
5.1 NLP – Generalities.....	63
5.2 Selecting information: sensory representation systems.....	67
5.3 Establishing a positive contact with the Interlocutor.....	69
5.4 Let's demonstrate that we know what we want	70
5.5 Adaptability - outcome of the successful application application of NLP	71

Chapter 6. Applications of Transactional Analysis (TA) to Interpersonal Communication (IC)	77
6.1 TA – Notion and objectives	78
6.2 The states of mind.....	78
6.3 Communicative transactions.....	82
6.4 The role of the individual in relation to the social environment	83
6.5 Mechanisms for influencing the interpersonal relations.....	87
6.5.1 Self-manipulation mechanisms	87
6.5.2 Mechanisms for manipulating the interlocutor: the games.....	88
6.6 Self-limiting behaviour: mini scenarios	89
PART III: Attitude, behaviour and protocol rules
for business negotiations	93
Chapter 7. Communication and Negotiation	95
7.1 General considerations about the negotiation	95
7.2 General considerations about the stages of a Negotiation	96
7.3 Communication techniques used in negotiation.....	102
7.4 Principles and rules in order to succeed in negotiation and sales	110
7.5 Recommended rules for the business attire	115
7.6 Types of negotiations and negotiation styles	120
7.6.1 Types of negotiators	120
7.6.2 Negotiation styles	123
7.7 Negotiation techniques	127

Chapter 8. Protocol Rules in Business Relations	143
8.1 Invitations	143
8.2 Behaviour when going in/out building, at/in the lift and on the stairs.....	144
8.3 Business cards.....	147
8.4 Receiving guests	150
8.4.1 At the table	151
8.4.2 Taking the floor and giving speeches	166
8.5 The art of business gift giving	169
Selective bibliography	173

following categories:

- People who make things happen...
- People who wait for things to happen...
- People who stand by and watch what happens...
- People who gossip and comment upon what is happening...
- People who do not understand what is happening...

We have often wondered which of these five categories we fall into and we eventually realised that, may we admit it or not, we fall into the fifth one with no doubt, i.e. that of people who do not understand what is happening...

We wondered, for instance, why in many cases when we got into contact with interlocutors from other countries, especially those who, like us, are EU members, do cannot get on the same "wave length" at once? After times of intensely looking for the causes which cannot generate attitudes which are either different, or impossible to