

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

	Some Thoughts on Comparative Cosmology	1
1	A Brief History of Skara Brae	7
2	Footholds to a Theory of Origin for Skara Brae	12
3	Reexamining Skara Brae in Overview	17
4	Comparing Skara Brae and Dogon Structures	23
5	Dogon, Egyptian, and Faroese Words of Cosmology	30
6	Cosmological Sites of the Orkney Region	36
7	The Dogon Field of Arou	46
8	The Field of Arou and the Elysian Fields	50
9	Further Correlations to Faroese Words	56
10	Argat: An Ancient Name for Orkney Island	59

11	Orkney Island as an Archaic Sanctuary	68
12	The Overthrown Boat	73
13	Reconsidering Possible Roles for Orkney Island	77
14	The Emergence of Dynastic Egypt	88
15	The Advent of the Egyptian Hieroglyphs	96
16	Correlating Regional Kingships at 3000 BCE	101
17	Seshat and the Egyptian House of Life	110
18	Views on the Papae and the Peti	115
19	Words of the Scottish-Gaelic Language	122
20	The Druids and Other Pieces of the Puzzle	126
21	The Hindu Parable of the Seven Houses	136
22	The Egyptian Tale of the “Seven Houses in the Other World”	145
23	Conclusions and Observations	163
	Notes	173
	Bibliography	186
	Index	190